Truman Asks 10 Billion Dollar Tax Increase

Congress Gets Special Tax Message Today

Some Higher Rates Than In Last War Would Be Required

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—President Truman asked Congress today for prompt approval of a 10 billion dollar tax increase to put the nation's rearmament program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The President, in a special message to Congress, requested:

1. A four billion dollar increase in personal income taxes.
2. A three billion dollar increase in corporate income taxes.
3. A three billion dollar increase in selective excise taxes.

4. The closing of "loopholes" in the present tax structure to raise additional revenue from what the President termed "the gross under-taxation of the oil and mining industries," of estate and gift taxes, and "the undue preferential treatment granted to capital gains in comparison with ordinary income."

Higher Than Last War
The President told Congress that the tax program he is recommending "will require higher rates in some cases than those paid during the last war."

But Mr. Truman said: "A balanced budget now is just as important a mobilization measure as larger armed forces, allocations of basic materials and controls over prices and wages."

The President said that this recommendation for personal income taxes to bear the larger proportion of the increased revenue was because "the personal income tax is the mainstay of our federal government."

Consensus of local opinion today seemed to indicate that the groundhog saw his shadow during the morning, if he was out of his winter home.

In order that Court House employees might park effectively adjacent to the Court House, the county commissioners had in operation early this morning a large lift which was effectively clearing the parking area of the snow which had fallen over the past few days. City streets were also in operation this morning pushing snow into the curbs on the downtown streets.

Those venturesome souls who took cars out on the streets Thursday evening, found most unusual and extremely difficult driving conditions calling for skill and agility to avoid accidents. In spite of the various drivers' efforts to keep the car in the lane of traffic, the snowy, icy streets caused a lot of trouble for the operators seemingly unable to control the cars.

A number of motorists who have been placing newspapers on their windshields to prevent the ice from gathering thereon, have found that the paper has frozen to the glass and much scraping had to be effected in order to remove the obstruction before they can drive. Much trouble has been experienced thus far this winter with car windows freezing up and deterring motorists' vision.

"Under the circumstances, everything was just about under control on county highways," Al-

Near Zero Weather Takes Spotlight Off Groundhog

That age old controversy as to whether the groundhog saw his shadow today, or not, was relegated into the background by matters more serious to everyone who had to get out and fight his way around in today's near zero weather.

Everyone agreed that if he did come out, he saw his shadow, but he was a sucker for coming out, as was anyone else who actually did not have to get out and buck the stiff breeze which hit them like a two-edged sword.

Real winter gripped the district, and the woes of folks who had to travel today was added to by the low temperature, which was not

Conserve Gas Foley Warns

Cold In Southwest Cuts Supply Here

With major industries cut to the bone because of the extreme low temperature, home owners were called upon today by Manager T. J. Foley of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company to reduce the use of gas to a minimum needed for comfort in their homes.

Mr. Foley stated that due to the unusual severe cold weather which has penetrated into the Louisiana and Texas area, all major pipe lines coming into this area have been unable to maintain an adequate supply of natural gas to this area.

While it is felt that the supply will be enough to supply the homes, everyone is asked to cooperate to prevent a failure. This can be done, Mr. Foley pointed out, by closing off spare rooms, reducing the temperature in the home several degrees below that customarily maintained and to make up for this deficiency by wearing warmer clothes inside the house. Cook only those foods which require a minimum amount of cooking, he added.

If these measures are carried out, the supply here will be adequate. If not, everyone will suffer.

Gen. Eisenhower Will Report To Nation Tonight

To Tell People Of Result Of Tour Of Western Europe

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will report to the nation tonight his summary conviction that America "must" help defend Europe and that this gigantic effort will not prod Russia into war.

The European supreme commander climaxed his round of speeches and testimony with a nationwide radio address at 10:45 P. M.

His final congressional testimony will be a closed-door report to the House Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees this morning.

Answering the Taft-GOP argument that commitment of U. S. troops to Europe will spur Russia to aggressive war, Eisenhower reportedly told senators in secret session:

"Will Move Anyway"
"If Russia is going to move, she will move anyway."

Eisenhower's public report to Congress today will be a leadership in perhaps a 30-year mobilization.

Mail Embargo Order Received

Removal Of Trains Slows Mail Here

Only a small amount of mail was coming into New Castle this morning because of the removal of the mail embargo, and the fact that many important trains which bring mail into the city were taken off by the various railroads because of the work stoppage by switchmen in strategic railroad yards.

Only first class mail, weighing less than eight ounces, was being accepted this morning for the points affected, unless it was a package containing medicine or some vital necessity, and newspapers.

The terminals affected are Chicago, St. Louis, Washington, Philadelphia, Trenton, N. J., Jacksonville, Fla., New York City, Atlanta, Ga., Cleveland, O., and Baltimore, Md. Mail scheduled to pass through these places was being refused with the exception of first class matter, as previously stated.

Parts Of Nation Still In Grip Of Frigid Wave

(By International News Service)
The groundhog who ventures from his burrow for a look-see today better be quick or he'll freeze. It is still that cold in parts of the nation for the fifth straight day.

Sample early morning temperatures: 33 below zero at Lone Rock, Wis.; 13 below in Chicago; minus 20 in Iowa City, Ia.; Fayetteville, Ark., 14 below; St. Louis, 6 below; and 4 below in Nashville.

Cold In Texas
San Antonio, Tex., reported only 11 above, Denver, 14 above. Extreme cold air still covers most of the country, the weather Bureau said with teeth-chattering repetition.

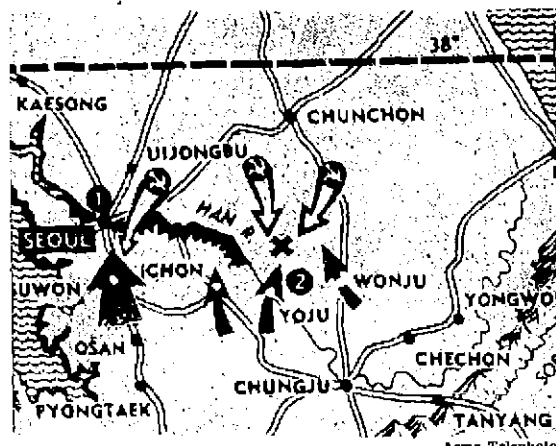

Some moderation in temperatures has occurred from the northwest Pacific states across the northern Rocky Mountains and into the Dakotas.

But along the Atlantic seaboard, where temperatures were quite mild yesterday, colder weather was moving in. Frost-bitten tourists who went to Miami to escape the cold in Iowa City, Ia., are going. Airline officials reported travel between the resort and Nassau in the Bahamas is the heaviest in history.

Snow flurries continued this morning in the Appalachians and from Michigan eastward in the Great Lakes region. Snow and sleet slanted down in northern New England. There were scattered showers in northern Florida. Elsewhere in the country there was a good chance the groundhog TOKYO, Feb. 2.—John Foster Dulles, head of the U. S. peace treaty mission to Japan, told the Japanese today they can take a leading role in the world alliance against Communism.

He also said American forces will remain in Japan after the signing of the peace treaty, if the Japanese favor it.

Dulles delivered an outspoken bid for Japanese partnership in turning back the Red tide in Asia as he addressed a luncheon of the American-Japanese Society of Industrial Clubs.

The state department advisor called the United States the "principal deterrent power" against world Communism, but added:

Train Service Is Curtailed

Wildcat Strike Causes Reduction In Train Service

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Passenger train service to the west and south was curtailed by the Pennsylvania railroad today as a wildcat switchmen's strike cut Philadelphia industrial supplies to a trickle.

Freight movements were all but halted in the area, while incoming sea cargoes piled up on piers and stock piles dwindled. A meat shortage loomed and hard coal mines began laying off men.

The PRR announced that seven passenger trains linking New York and Philadelphia with western points were being annulled today "until further notice."

These included the Trail Blazer and Admiral to Chicago, the Jeffersonian and American to St. Louis and the Susquehanna and Jungta to Pittsburgh.

The carrier also suspended the New York-Washington phase of 10 trains for the south, advising prospective passengers to check with the railroad on available service.

Expressing regret at the curtailment, the PRR pointed out that in Philadelphia alone some 1400 switchmen and trainmen had "reported sick" in the past three days.

Chinese Reds Use Korean Children In Role Of Spies

ON THE WESTERN FRONT IN KOREA, Feb. 2.—(INS)—American military police officers said Friday Chinese Communists are using small Korean children to spy on United Nations forces.

The disclosures came simultaneously with the release from a front line prisoner of war camp of the youngest spy in the business. He was identified as Im Sung Nan, nine years old.

The nine-year-old boy was picked up while spying on American tank positions for the Chinese. The boy did not know where his home town was, or its name. He was picked up after he toddled across the shell-blasted front lines.

Chinese Troops In Battle Near Seoul Suffer Defeat

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, U. S. S.)

TOKYO, Feb. 3.—(Saturday)—Tank-led U. S. Eighth Army troops plunged within seven miles of Seoul's southern edge Friday while to the east remnants of two Chinese Red regiments retreated from the scene of a crushing defeat.

Along South Korea's western front, United Nations forces advanced more than a mile closer to Seoul in a renewed northward assault that carried one armored column through and beyond the railway junction of Anyang.

The push north of Anyang, which lies seven miles below the Han river bend forming the enemy-held Korean capital's southern limit, was reported from the front by International News Service War Correspondent Frank Conniff.

Conniff's dispatch, received shortly before midnight Friday (11 a. m. EST), said the "steady advance" more than nine miles above Suwon, was opposed with small arms fire by Communist groups "who withdrew upon initial contact" with the UN forces.

Forward Surge
The fresh forward surge in the west came as decimated Chinese units fled north on the hilly central front, leaving some 3,800 of their fallen on the field after a 30-hour battle with victorious American and French troops.

In the west-central sector, troops of the Eighth Army's 10th Corps consolidated their positions after an American-French regiment, aided by planes and a relief column, had broken through.

Seven Killed In Oil Tanker Blast

SWANSEA, Wales, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Seven crewmen were killed and 11 others injured today in an explosion and fire aboard the Liberian oil tanker Atlantic Duchess at a Swansea dockside in Wales.

The blaze was brought under control after firefighters battled the flames for several hours.

It had been feared originally that several other men were lost when the fire spread rapidly on the vessel which was lying at the queen's dock. The explosion which set off the fire was heard from a distance of 10 miles.

Tugs moved the loaded American tanker Four Lakes away from the dock when it was threatened by the blaze.

Groundhog Sees Shadow At Punxsutawney Today

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 2.—(INS)—The Punxsutawney groundhog emerged from his lair precisely at 8:41 a. m. EST today, sniffed once and high-tailed it back inside.

"Brrrrrr," he was quoted. "Me and my shadow will be back in six weeks."

Meaning, to the uninitiated, that the nation is in for six weeks more of hard, cold winter.

The impertinent little beast reappeared long enough to inquire of the prognostication of the Quarryville, Pa., "pretender," and when informed that he was being hunted with Gopher counters, chuckled:

"That moth-eaten mole couldn't find his way out of a tea cup with a compass, let alone predict anything."

He suggested that everyone go home and take his word for it that Spring was still a good ways off. Then he was gone himself.

His worthy weather observation was duly recorded by officials of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club, who, dressed in high beaver hats, cutaway coats and striped trousers, trudged through snow and ice to witness the occasion.

It was bitter cold out there on gobbler knob atop canoe ridge, where the Punxsutawney whistle pig holds out, and as the wind whistled through the bobbing circle of high hats, none doubted the word of the chuck when he muttered:

"Back to your burrow, you fool homo Sapiens, it ain't Spring yet."

Mainly Social
It was understood, however, that Pleven's visit will be mainly a social one. On his arrival he will be welcomed by St. Laurent and other members of the cabinet. An honor guard from the Royal 22nd Regiment will give a royal salute.

Pleven will have lunch with Viscount Alexander, governor general, and will later go with Mr. St. Laurent to the Parliament buildings where he will watch the afternoon session from the diplomatic gallery. An official welcome will be given by St. Laurent from the floor of the Commons Chamber. An official reception for Pleven will be given in the evening by the French ambassador and a dinner will be given in his honor by St. Laurent. On Saturday he will fly to New York after lunch.

CONGRESS GETS SPECIAL TAX MESSAGE

tax system" and "it should be the major source of the additional revenue we need."

No Lower Exemption
Mr. Truman told Congress he does not believe that the present personal exemption of $800 "should be lowered at the present time" because of the much higher cost of living, but that the increased revenue from personal income taxes should come from raising present rates.

But he generalized this recommendation and gave no details in his message. Apparently, the White House recommendation for increased rates will be contained in proposed draft of legislation to be submitted to Congress.

This was true, likewise, of his recommendation for increasing corporation tax rates.

In addition to asking Congress to approve "as rapidly as possible" legislation to yield an additional revenue of "at least 10 billion dollars annually," Mr. Truman requested that the legislators later in the year "enact the remaining amounts needed to keep us on a pay-as-you-go basis."

The President did not specify the amount of additional billions beyond the 10 billion dollars that will be needed to keep the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Mr. Truman said that budget estimates for the present year of 71.8 billion dollars would be met, under present taxation, by estimated receipts of only 55.1 billion dollars.

Need 16.5 Billions
This would require 16.5 billion dollars in new taxes to meet the President's request to put the nation's expenditures on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Mr. Truman said there are three main reasons why a balanced budget is so important now:

1. "We should pay as we go because that is the way to keep the government's finances on a sound footing."

2. "We should pay for expenses as we go because that is the way to distribute cost of defense fairly."

3. "We should pay-as-we-go to help prevent inflation."

PUSHBUTTONS
PLANDOME MILLS, N. Y.—(INS)—Comfort making and labor-saving automatic devices installed in a unique all-electric house are evidence that push button living is just around the corner. Complete indoor comfort regardless of weather changes is assured by highly sensitive electronic control system, developed by Minneapolis-Honeywell engineers. Work-saving devices range from a push button kitchen and laundry where appliances are matched up for assembly-line performance to a bedside switch to start the coffee perking in the morning.

U.N. ACTION ASSAILED BY RED CHINESE

Meanwhile, Yugoslavia, Burma and Egypt declined to take part in the U. N. effort to map sanctions against Communist China which are contingent on its rejection of peace undertakings.

At the same time, the British maintained that peace overtures to Mao must be exhausted entirely before sanctions can even be considered. This runs counter to the United States assistance that the collective measures team should get organized and meet next week.

U. S. Deputy Representative Ernest A. Gross in an informal discussion of American policy at Lake Success made it clear that an unconditional cease-fire in Korea and withdrawal of North Korean and Chinese troops from South Korea are cardinal points which Mao must accept before there can be real negotiations.

Gross laid stress on the importance of taking into account—when the "good offices" committee sits down to work and contacts Peiping—American public opinion against knocking down to conditions outlined by Communist China.

Supports Peace Effort
He emphasized that while the United States fully supports every effort for reaching a peaceful settlement in the Far East, the fact remains that the U. N. good offices group must work in close harmony with the unified command and the sixteen nations who have air, land or sea forces in the Korean theater.

Gross recalled the U. N. appeal to Red China two months ago not to cross the 38th parallel and indicated such a commitment by Peiping—carried out under present battlefield circumstances—might give an initial, favorable base to the "good offices" group to canvass the outlook for a peaceful settlement.

He indicated further that next week the United States will not go empty-handed into the collective measures committee. In that unit, for whose meetings he advocates strict privacy to assure unitary action, he suggested "graduated" sanctions. This would mean a progressive application—if necessary—of diplomatic, economic and military measures against Mao. He stressed that collective measures from the U. N. standpoint mean collective action by U. N. members.

Would Stay Off Sanctions
Yugoslavia wants to stay off the sanctions group in order to give Russia no pretext for retaliating on the Balkan borders. Burma similarly is reluctant to get involved in punitive steps against the powerful Communist neighbor. Egypt was a leader with India against including Peiping for the Korean aggression.

Assembly President Nasrallah, authorized by the assembly resolution to set up a three-man "good offices" committee headed by himself, ran into an identical snag.

He asked Sir Bengali Ray of India and Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson, who served with him on the original cease-fire group, to accept the new posts. Both displayed reluctance, leaving prospects that the delegates of Lebanon, Australia, Saudi Arabia, Pakistan, Sweden or Norway might be named.

showdown with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Today's hearing officially is concerned with the first switchmen's walkout—in defiance of a Federal injunction—six weeks ago, but the government hopes a contempt citation may end the current walkout.

Ignore Order
BRT leaders in Chicago yesterday issued a back-to-work order which the switchmen ignored as they did a similar order in their walkout last December.

Railroad yards in at least 44 cities across the nation were choked with freight cars. The "sick call" walkout now affects 42 railroads and has forced layoffs in steel, automotive, radio-television, coal and other industries.

Somewhere 30,000 New York-area commuters were stranded today by strike-forced cuts in New York Central and Pennsylvania line suburban service. Switchmen began reporting sick at Pennay yards in Pittsburgh and the railroad canceled seven trains between New York and western points and 10 between New York and Washington.

A meat shortage loomed in Philadelphia. A fuel oil shortage threatened Wisconsin and industrial users of propane gas in Chicago were advised they may have to cut production. Coal and oil supplies dwindled in St. Louis.

William P. Kennedy, president of the BRT, was subpoenaed in Washington yesterday to appear with 53 other union officials in Chicago.

In another Washington development, the Post Office Department slapped a partial embargo on second, third and fourth class mail in 10 major cities affected by the strike.

others in mutual commitments, in accord with the United Nations charter, so that the deterrent power which protects us will also protect others."

"Japan, if it is disposed to protect itself against indirect aggression, can, if it wishes, share collective protection against direct aggression."

Dulles added:
"That, however, is not a choice which the United States is going to impose upon Japan. It is an invitation. The United States is not interested in Slavic wars. The choice must be Japan's own choice."

The treaty mission head told the Japanese that it would be up to them alone to protect their country from "internal aggression"—Communist infiltration and agitation.

Would Retain Forces
He said the "United States would sympathetically consider the retention of United States armed forces in and about Japan, as a testimony to the unity between our two countries."

The veteran American policy expert said America offered its former Japanese enemy "a peace of trust and opportunity."

He said:
"We seek a peace which will afford Japan the opportunity to protect by her own efforts the integrity of the full sovereignty which peace will have restored; opportunity to share in collective security against direct aggression; opportunity to raise her standard of living; the inventiveness and industry of her people and opportunity to achieve moral stature and respected leadership through the forces of good example."

Dulles made no specific reference to details of the impending peace treaty, especially, the questions of the return of the former Japanese colonies or a possible program of planned Japanese emigration to underdeveloped areas of Oceania.

expected to get above ten degrees during the day.

"The sun is valiantly to smile through a thin haze of clouds this morning, but it was just a gesture and didn't mean a thing. There wasn't any warmth in it."

One Above Zero
At the U. S. Weather Observing station, the mercury stood at one above zero, but some folks in the outlying districts claimed that it was colder than that. However, one nice thing was that out in the west, where temperatures from 40 to 50 degrees below were recorded, that would have been thought hot. And we can all feel glad they were out in the west and not here.

While all this was coming on yesterday, a three-inch fall of snow and sleet fell on the district, making driving extremely difficult. If one strayed off the beaten path today, he found the going extremely rough, as the mixtures which fell yesterday, were blended into a solid mass. In places one could drive on top of the pack with an auto without breaking through, but once he did break through, it was hard to get out, even with chains on.

Paths were worn through the snow on the main-traveled highways, but the sides of these paths was hard, making driving difficult.

During the rush hour last evening as folks were wending their way home, the hills became clogged with traffic as those who neglected to get their chains on, slipped on the hills, jamming things up.

GEN. EISENHOWER WILL REPORT TO NATION

tion effort against Communism drew general praise from congressional leaders.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, GOP policy leader and ranking foe of sending any substantial ground forces to Europe, was the only top Republican who refused to comment on the general's presentation. It was Taft who argued in the "great debate" on foreign policy that Russia will not "wait" to strike if she sees America making a major defense effort in Europe.

Eisenhower, in closed session, also rejected the idea that America's troop commitment should be limited either by ratio or a "flat ceiling." He urged that it instead be kept "flexible" and that all North Atlantic countries contribute the maximum possible.

Forty Combat Divisions
The five-star general was said by informed members to have told the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committee that:

1. Present plans for Europe's defense contemplates a force of 40 combat divisions in the field by the end of 1952 with an ultimate overall manpower strength of 1,600,000.

2. A contribution by France of 15 divisions by the close of 1952, this rising to 25 divisions later.

Eisenhower reportedly avoided giving even an estimate of how many American divisions it was thought should or would be committed at any point in the expanding defense program. This was confirmed by the Senate committee announcement that he urged a flexible setup and by the general's own public plea that this country use leadership rather than "supplication."

The general shed new light on the issue of using German troops by announcing that this question should be deferred until political agreement has been ironed out with Western Germany involving an "earned equality" for that defense partner. Foreign Relations Chairman Connally (D) Tex., summed up the German troop matter by saying:

"It will take a long time to work out the German situation, and we can't depend on them now."

Until Eisenhower's forthright statement was made, U. S. policy had made integration of German troops into the defense force a matter of urgency.

NEW YORK — (INS)—Corned beef hash hobnobs among the more sophisticated dishes these days and is one of the most popular canned meat items on the market. One delicious combination using this good old favorite is tomatoes stuffed with corned beef hash. To prepare, choose big, lush-red garden tomatoes and scoop out the centers. Combine the pulp with the corned beef hash, season with a little salt, if necessary, and stuff the tomato with this mixture. Then sprinkle each tomato with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour.

TICKLING DRAGON'S TAIL

Residents of Las Vegas, Nev., know that something big is taking place nearby. Explosions have lighted the sky and rocked their homes, and a special committee of Congress has been there to observe developments.

There are several remarkable features about the news from Nevada. Never before have there been so many nuclear detonations within a short period of time. Only three were required—including the first test bomb at Alamogordo—to end the war with Japan. Another peculiarity is that some of the detonations, at least, seem to have been too mild for a conventional atomic bomb.

From these facts certain inferences can be drawn. The Atomic Energy Commission, presumably, was not wasting atomic bombs in Nevada, but testing small atomic weapons which may have far more revolutionary effects on warfare. The atomic bomb, mighty and awful as it is, is a weapon of very limited usefulness, whose main importance may be its deterrent effect.

But shells and rockets, with atomic warheads, which could be fired by field artillery or from planes and ships, might give the side possessing them an insuperable advantage in firepower.

Atomic explosions small enough for such use were at one time considered impossible, because no one knew how to induce any explosion at all with less than a certain critical weight of radioactive material. But it was known as early as last June that this problem—"Tickling the dragon's tail," AEC physicists called it—had been cracked, and Senator McMahon said the other day that progress had been made on a variety of atomic weapons. The Nevada detonations indicate that some of these new types may have actually been built and tested.

ARMY AND SOCIAL WORK

The last place where one would expect to find social workers is in the army. Chaplains, to be sure, are a fixture, and many of them play a role that includes activities that might be classed as social work.

It is not too widely known, however, that U. S. armed forces used a large number of psychiatric social workers during World War II. The new program involved a great deal of improvisation and failed to get consistent or optimum results, but it proved its worth.

Emotional disturbances multiply under excessive stress. Now Lieut. Col. Elwood W. Camp, chief of the social service branch of the army surgeon general, announces that by July the army will need three to four times as many social workers as it has now—and not just psychiatric social workers, either. The need to reduce the ratio of non-combat to combat forces is recognized, but whatever helps make men better fighters, improves their morale and guards their mental health is worthwhile.

Even the Russians, who consider individual human life readily expendable, recognize the need for services of this kind. The role of their political commissars with the Red army has much to do, apparently with its efficiency in combat. Political commissars would not get far in the U. S. army, but trained social workers may be a good idea.

NO TWO WAYS ABOUT IT

From the British Admiralty comes word that the U. S. and Royal Navy air arms have achieved "complete standardization" in the techniques of landing on their aircraft carriers.

Because a takeoff is simplicity itself, there is no mention of taking off from a carrier deck. Everybody sees the plane sitting there warmed up and ready to go. Ship just steams into the wind fast enough to make it blow 30 knots, give or take a few, along the deck. With that much wind for extra lift, the plane simply skims over the deck and rises into the air. Whatever flag the ship flies, takeoffs are strictly standard and are relatively foolproof.

But landings, now! They are not nearly so simple. Even a pilot coming back to his own ship has to do many things exactly right—from getting his radio instruction to interpreting every flag-wave of the flight deck signal officer. Before making his landing, the pilot has to keep out of the way of any other planes buzzing about their mother. Standardization of landing techniques between the British and Americans? Well, these rules had better be the same for both navies.

And here's the acid test, which has occurred before this: Two carriers, USS and HMS, have planes in the air. One carrier is sunk by enemy action. Far at sea, the ship still afloat is the only hope of all the pilots. Day or night, there must be full understanding if fast planes are to touch safely on a heaving deck. There couldn't be any military operation where a man has a greater stake in there being just one right way to do everything.

The season for picking the "Ten Best" of this or that is over and, again, no one has named the Ten Best of All—the Ten Commandments.

The bagpipe, we read, was introduced into the British Isles by the Roman legions. Probably constituted Julius Caesar's No. 1 secret weapon.

That Mexican turtle which was reported to be growing hair all over its body seems to have forgotten one important thing: they don't make fur coats out of shells.

See Heightened Western Solidarity

A once-ousted dictator and his daughter, neither of whom hesitated to fire into threatening mobs during their stormy careers, have staged a dramatic comeback in Rio de Janeiro and Washington fully anticipates that heightened western solidarity will result.

He is Getulio Vargas, newly inaugurated president of Brazil.

She is 34-year-old Senhora Alzira Do Amaral Peixoto, his favorite daughter and closest confidante.

"If there is a secret that really must be kept and I don't trust myself with it, I tell Alzira and I know I'm safe," Vargas has told his friends.

Most Prominent

Not as well known perhaps as Eva Peron is in Argentina, the daughter of Brazil's new president is one of the most prominent women in South America.

She has been her father's secretary in various official capacities since she was in her teens. She kept watch for him at the governor's palace in Porto Alegre during the long nights he spent in hatching the 1930 revolution that first brought Vargas to power.

And early one morning in 1938 she seized a rifle and, side-by-side with her father, fired from a balcony of the presidential palace on revolutionaries attempting to storm the building and murder the Vargas family.

Awaiting Outcome

The entire western hemisphere is waiting eagerly to see how Vargas carries out his legally elected administration.

Vargas' own revolutionary career is proof of his willingness and ability to act quickly and decisively. He was the first Latin American ruler to give unqualified support to the western allied powers in the Second World War and the only one to send active combat troops to the field of action.

Best diplomatic opinion, however, is that Vargas has mellowed from his stormy revolutionary days. No return to the strong-arm methods that earned the chief executive much criticism is expected. But he is expected to give all-out support to the western cause against communism.

Unity Is Essential

Vargas said as much in his first public statement after his inauguration when he stressed the traditional friendly relations of Brazil with other western hemisphere nations and said that unity is essential "these trying times."

It is possible that one major difficulty may arise with regard to Brazilian national economy.

The people and leaders of the country have been angry over charges made in the United States that a small group of monopolists in the coffee center of Santos and elsewhere are responsible for high prices.

Lukewarm Regime

The Dutra administration which preceded that of Vargas has been described as a lukewarm regime in contrast to Vargas' inherent activism.

Thus if the coffee squabble and the problems of allocation are pushed to the forefront under his leadership, some difficult issues might arise that could mar the full cordiality that Washington hopes for.

Rightly or wrongly, diplomats in Rio de Janeiro are inclined to look upon Senhora Alzira as a decidedly moderating influence if her impetuous father shows any sign of being driven into any anti-United States attitude by Brazilian extremists.

As Chateleine of the Brazilian White House, it is expected that she will exercise her diplomatic duties with great finesse.

But in addition to this, she is the wife of the governor-elect of the important state that also is called Rio de Janeiro and her duties in contact with foreign emissaries in her unique joint position will require the essence of tact.

Senhora Alzira knows five languages, is an attractive brunette with a flashing smile, graced both with social charm and political sagacity.

She stands now at the start of a major stage which may mark a new era of feminine importance in the destinies of the western hemisphere.

Boys in their middle teens and early twenties are faced with considerable disorientation. Many of them have dreamed of finishing high school or going on to college perhaps, even of completing education for a vocation. Others have dreamed of early marriage and a family of their own and a job or a business for their comfortable support.

Now the draft with its uncertainties ahead faces them. Some of these youths find it hard to do their best at school or college, even on a job. "What's the use?" a few are asking themselves. Already some high school and college teachers are observing indifference in youth toward their studies.

World Situation

Adding to youths' discouragement has been the defeatist attitude of some of our older statesmen in the light of the world situation. But this spirit of despair by some citizens, like the despair which hovered over us right after Pearl Harbor, will turn gradually to hope when we adults get hold of ourselves, count our resources and start pulling together with all our strength.

And we can do something for these youths. With proper understanding and appreciation of their feelings, we can help them see, if we can win their confidence, that in the first place they have within themselves a lot of self-drive and that they can gain peace of mind by forcing themselves to do their very best now. Of course, just to lecture and exhort them to these ends might only make them feel more discouraged and less ready to listen to us. We must be adroit. We must be able to win the faith and confidence of these youths.

We can point out to them that they can go on with their education even while in the armed forces, and in the light of the G. I. Bill of Rights for the veterans of World War II, that these youths inducted now will undoubtedly be able to continue their formal education at government expense on returning to civilian life.

More than we realize, we can inspire them to keep on striving. We can prevail on many of them to enter the many available courses while in the Service.

Of first importance are our own attitudes and remarks in the presence of these youths now. All too many parents and other relatives are dwelling on the misfortunes facing these boys as if they did not themselves already worry over the matter.

Young Men

These times test our good sense and character. We owe it to these young men to give them at home an atmosphere of courage instead of despair.

We need to pray for poise and wisdom and courage in ourselves. I sincerely believe the best way for us parents, grandparents, other relatives and neighbors of these adolescent boys is through cultivating our own spiritual selves and communing with the Almighty and leaning on His everlasting arms. Then we might be able to help these youths feel that as they enter the Service and do their bit in defense of the principles of liberty dear to us and them, they are building what won't perish. On the purely practical side, most of us believe that as we build up our defenses we render a world catastrophe less likely and peace in the world more sure. Whatever we can honestly do in these directions should inspire our teenage boys with more faith, hope and courage.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

May Lose Our Greatness

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The times so outrageous, it would be downright farcical in its revelation of the fantastic lengths to which timidity and cowardice and a kind of political blackmail can go. But it is not funny. It is a symptom of sickness and it has made me both angry and disgusted.

When I called on the House Un-American Activities committee, I was told there were two "listings" of my name. One was for the sponsorship in 1937 of something called the "American Writers Congress." To the best of my recollection I never heard of the American Writers Congress nor of the League of American Writers, which is supposed supposed to have organized it.

The second "listing" was in connection with membership in the Washington Friends of Spanish Democracy in 1938. In 1944 it was put on the attorney general's subversive list.

Sent To Spain

In 1937 as a reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch I was sent to Spain to write a series of articles about the struggle of the Spanish government to put down the fascist rebellion started by Franco. It was a grim and terrible struggle and I came back to America with a feeling of deep compassion for the Spanish people.

Spain was obviously the first move in the fascist conquest of Europe. Mussolini tried out his tanks and soldiers there and Hitler his planes and aviators.

In London, Paris and Washington a paralysis of uncertainty and division made it impossible to have any policy toward Spain except one of drift. I joined with a few others to try to arouse opinion as to the true meaning of the Spanish civil war. Our efforts were largely futile.

Conspirators Moved In

As the democracies defaulted, communist conspirators moved in to power in Madrid. They were backed by the military assistance of Soviet Russia provided to Spain in limited amounts.

That was ultimate tragedy. After the war had gone on for a certain time—perhaps after mid-1938—the only choice was a dictatorship. It was bound to end with either a fascist or a communist tyranny. Democracy had not had time to take root in Spain.

Likewise in this country the organizations in which liberals and (Continued on Page Six)

Republicans who were invited to the White House to hear Mr. Truman read his tax message say it is just like they always dreamed it was. . . . You should see their little faces light up when they describe it.

One fellow said his father was there years ago, when it wasn't news when a Republican visited the White House, and it was always his own ambition to see the inside once before he died.

He said he'd been passing there since he was 21, murmuring to himself "not today, but someday!" And here he's only 40 and he has crossed the magic threshold.

Well it just goes to prove if you wait long enough and hope hard enough, eventually the good things come to you.

They tell me that when Tom Dewey heard that some Republicans had been invited to the White House he perked up like he had just been given a dose of sunshine vitamins.

Of course, the invitation was to discuss taxes, not defense plans or policies, but to be invited to share even such an unpopular thing as higher tax plans is real progress for the Republicans.

At the funeral of Houdini, the great illusionist, they were carrying out the coffin when mourner Charles B. Dillingham was heard by practically the entire congregation saying to George M. Cohan, "Wouldn't it be funny if he wasn't in there?"

Folks Of Fame

Joseph H. Short is a newspaper man, born at Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 11, 1904. He began his newspaper career with a Jackson, Miss., paper, and worked successfully for Vicksburg and New Orleans papers. He then transferred to a national press wire service. In 1931 he was with the Washington bureau of service, then was transferred to the Chicago bureau. He has been with a Baltimore paper until recently, when he was appointed secretary to the President.

Dr. Adolph Lorenz was born of poor parents at Vidnava, Silesia, Austria, April 21, 1854. He studied at Vienna University, where he later was a demonstrator and professor. He introduced the forcible manipulation for congenital hip joint dislocation, and specialized on clubfoot and flatfoot. He came to the United States and was in much demand for treatments. He wrote numerous publications about the physical deformities which he treated, and died in Vienna on Feb. 12, 1946.

Nations March On Stomachs?

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—India's request for two million tons of grain does not—as the sloganers are charging—raise the question of whether the U. S. is "playing politics with human misery."

That question has already been answered a dozen times over. Unfortunately, we must play politics with human misery, for that is the lot of mankind. Misery is and has always been an existing condition throughout the world, and a great deal of our foreign policy has been based on the undeniable fact that men are unhappy.

The real question, in this time of our struggle for the world, is whether we play the politics of misery as successfully as the Russians do. An American aid-giver, recently back from overseas, has given me a rather shrewd appraisal of Russian tactics in what global thinkers like to call "the battle for men's minds." He said that:

Promises Made By Russia

Russia does not directly promise or attempt to feed the hungry and clothe the naked of the world. The basic promise of Soviet propaganda is power. The day will come, the Communist persuaders say, when you—and you will take over the factories, the grain fields and the parliaments of the earth. Of course, the Russians do not allow such promises to be kept. Once a country falls behind the Iron Curtain, all these things are handled by the military dictatorship. Even so, we get an inkling here of why Soviet workers have been able to match American deeds in the propaganda war. The Communists promise power and we deliver the goods of solid food and other tangibles of life. Yet our giveaway programs have barely held their own in France and have failed completely in China.

Analysis Worth Pondering

This analysis is worth pondering while the Senate Foreign Relations Committee decides what to do about the Indian request. In point of fact, the committee has already reached a temporary decision to pigeon-hole the appeal. This decision is right in line with the policy we have been following all along. Prime Minister Nehru has balked on following our leadership at Lake Success. Therefore he gets no food. Only a few weeks ago Congress granted Yugoslavia a large food loan on the self-same principle. Dictator Tito was following our anti-Kremlin policy to a gratifying extent. Therefore let him pull up a chair to the table. Two years ago we were feeding China. But now the Chinese, although just as hungry as ever, are under the Communists and must be allowed to go hungry.

Our record needs to be set straight in the interests of straight thinking. Let us talk no more in the beatific platitudes of humanitarianism. We are not practicing charity. We are playing politics. We use American aid to reward our international friends and to tempt the fence-sitters. We withdraw American aid from the unfriendly and from the backsliders. It is better to state these principles with brutal frankness. Only when we face facts can we make sound judgments. And now let us ask:

How Does Policy Stack Up?

How does the policy of promising aid stack up against the Russian policy of promising power? Which of these promises has the greater appeal to the down-trodden peoples of the earth? Will the materialism of our giveaway programs ever win out over the Russian program of playing upon deeper aspirations of men?

These questions, I suspect, have a direct application to the case of India. Nehru has been asking for bread, but he has also been asking for power. All during the Korean crisis he has been desperately bidding for a decisive voice in this explosion of Asian affairs. He has never been granted anything that resembles the power of decision. He went along reluctantly with the intervention of last June. He was not listened to when he argued against our crossing of the 38th parallel. He has been driven into the opposition in the matter of seeking a cease-fire arrangement.

Something Else Again

It is one thing to believe that Nehru is wrong about his attitude toward Red China. But it is something else to overlook his quest for power or to underestimate what he has to offer for our side—or the Russian side. Although India will never put many men into World War III, we are wrong to ask the Stalinesque question, "How many divisions has Nehru?" He and Gandhi were able, without any divisions, to drive the British Empire from their teeming subcontinent. No matter how angry we get over the Red China issue, we cannot afford to let India fall from our sphere of influence.

Nor can we solve the long-term problem by deciding whether or not to send those two millions tons of grain. Here's a good case where we should reexamine our whole method of playing politics with human misery. The Russians know, and we should learn, that you can't always reach the hearts of men via their stomachs.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"We could have escaped long ago. If your deputies we wanted to fight. But we didn't want to hurt no one. In taking our unlawful flight, 'So we'll merely tiptoe out. In the midst of this dark night." There certainly does not seem to be any relationship between this "poem" and world affairs.

There is. Three prisoners in Oregon, Ill., wrote the above piece of poetry just before they were going to escape. But unfortunately the sheriff found it in their cell on an inspection tour and thus was able to prevent their flight before it materialized.

The work of art was entitled "Last Words of the Jailbirds."

The dispatch did not tell what crimes these men had committed nor what they did for a living when not committing crimes. Nor did it tell what urged them to put their plan down in writing. But it certainly does prove that it is a very good idea to keep one's intentions to one's self—else those intentions might be foiled.

In other words, it is very stupid to shoot off one's mouth and tell the world what one is going to do, lest someone slam the door on one and keep him from doing what he says he is going to do.

I wonder what the Russians need spies for. All they have to do is to look and and listen. We tell them exactly what we are going to do, when we are going to do it and how.

The other day in his speech on the State of the Union, President Truman gave his plans to the world in detail. (and the Russians) how many men we were going to arm, when they would be armed, where they would be sent and how they would be equipped. He told us (and the Russians) how many ships we were going to have, how many and what kind of planes, and how we were going to transport our atomic bombs.

He gave us (and the Russians) a timetable, a cost sheet, a complete outline of our aims and intentions. Not only that. When we have a new "secret weapon" we (and the Russians) are shown blueprints, drawings, models and working and assembly instructions.

All our dirty linen is washed in public for us (and the Russians) to see. In other words what we are telling the Russians is this: "We are still too weak to fight you. But we are getting ready. In another two years you won't have a chance with us."

"But please be good boys and wait. It would completely upset our schedule if you attacked us now when you still think you have a chance to lick us."

If the Russians accept that kind of invitation, then I pray that they are as dumb and as weak as I hope (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

State Police Say:

Did you get through 1950 without being involved in a traffic accident? If you did, fine; but remember it's not how well you drove last year that counts now, it's how well you drive today and tomorrow. Did you have even one "close call" as the result of some driving error, such as misjudging distance in making a pass or by driving at an excessive rate of speed? If you did, that close call placed you within one-tenth of a second of Eternity.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime: BY H. T. WEBSTER

VETERAN METEOROLOGIST PERMITS JUNIOR TO MAKE HIS FIRST WEATHER FORECAST

'Don't Get Excited' Warning Is Presented By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1931, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—During the last war many young men gave up their jobs, or closed out their businesses, before it was necessary. I said at the time they were making a big mistake.

Avoid Hasty Action

Filling stations, for which a good trade has been built up, were sold in the early 1920's for one-half their value or less. In fact, I then often said in this column that "closed filling stations are the best real estate investment which a person could make". Well, the fact is that these gas stations now are selling at three or four times what these panic-stricken G. I. men sold them for ten years ago. The same applied to other businesses which could well have been carried on by some relative or friend. So don't do something foolish now.

But there was a real war on; but no World War III exists today. It may be years before such a war comes, and much could happen in the meantime. Congress has not even passed the compulsory military training bill. Because President Coolidge of Harvard has written a scary article on military training for A. L. 18-20 year olds in a national magazine is no reason why a young man should suddenly change his life plans by giving up college or a good job. Besides, even if he is inducted for two years, these years will go very quickly. If you doubt this, just look back two years.

Business Very Different Today

Conditions are very different now than in 1914. There are now 10,000,000 more people in the United States. This means not only 10,000,000 potential customers but your chance of being drafted is proportionately less. The national income is now almost double what it was at the beginning of World War II. People now have better health, better education and better wages. Don't look back to what happened before World War II. Forget those days and recognize you are living in an entirely different age.

Although manufacturing is passing into bigger units, this is not true of merchandising and service businesses. There are more successful independent merchants today than ever; while attempts to make chains of dry cleaning, beauty and specialty shops have failed. Therefore, don't get panicky and sell out your business just because of over-thrusts, labor troubles or competition. Remember that for every one who gets scared and sells out, there is so much more opportunity for those who stick. Only don't borrow money to do so. Keep out of debt.

Final Advice

Whatever you do or don't do, take up some systematic study to enable you to do better work for yourself or your employer. Write tonight to your state university for a list of its extension courses. Some of these courses are truly "gold mines". Pick out one or more and "dig in" at once. They will not only help you in forging ahead here at home but will go a long way to prevent you from being used as cannon fodder abroad.

Pilots Pass Tests Despite Bad Weather

Bad weather has not affected the flights of students of the Penn Aero Service at New Castle airport. It is learned, with several pilots meeting the various flight requirements and being presented with certificates for their work.

Edward Moore of 602 Euclid avenue has completed the commercial pilot's course and has been granted a commercial license. Frank Matlack of 405 Hawthorne street has completed the air service, a cross country flight to Miami, Fla., and return was made by student Morris Becker of 512 East Moody avenue. Becker was accompanied on the trip by Joseph Gargasz of 314 Northview avenue. James Abraham, who recently passed his jet pilot's license test as announced in The News, is a former Penn Aero student.

World War II Vets Will Get Second Insurance Return

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The Veterans Administration announced Thursday it will pay about $8,000,000 World War II veterans a second GI-insurance dividend of $685,000,000 or an average $85 per man.

All ex-GI's or military personnel who held National Service Life Insurance for at least three months during the past three years are eligible for payments.

VA said the first checks will be mailed out in April.

The actual rate structure of each policy is still being studied by VA. But based on the initial payment plan, dividends may range from as low as 25 cents a month per $1,000 of term insurance to $1.85 a month on a $1,000 permanent endowment policy. Term insurance dividends approximated 55 cents a month per $1,000 for military G.I.s.

Unlike the first surplus payments, second-round dividends will be made according to the date a veteran subscribed for his insurance.

Payments will cover from this anniversary date in 1948 to the same date in 1951 for those who have held their insurance for the full three years.

VA said checks probably will be mailed out about two months after the anniversary date. Payments apply to lapsed policies as well as those terminated by death of the insured.

Also, unlike the first dividend, no application is required for the current payment.

Call 80,000 For Draft In April

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The army on Thursday issued a draft call for 80,000 men in April, bringing the total draftees requested so far to 530,000.

The 80,000 figure will maintain the high level established for the draft in January. The same number per month was requested for January, February and March.

All of the draftees will be inducted into the army. The navy, air force and Marine Corps said they have no plans to use the draft.

St. Lawrence Seaway Bill Battle Opens

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Twenty-two senators on Thursday sponsored a St. Lawrence seaway bill and the strong backing indicated a showdown battle over the issue in the 62nd congress.

Sen. Green (D. R. I., from the north Atlantic coast area) which generally has opposed the seaway which would let many ocean-going ships reach Great Lakes ports, spearheaded the group.

Green told the senate that the combined power and navigation project is a defense measure which must be enacted.

Also joining as sponsors were four other Atlantic seaboard senators—Lehman, N. Y.; Benton, Conn.; Pastore, R. I.; and Tubey (R), N. H.

Green said that the huge ton reserves from the Lake Superior region are nearly exhausted and the nation must depend more and more on imports from Labrador or elsewhere.

Other backers have contended that unless the seaway is constructed by deepening the St. Lawrence river and building locks, the nation's steel industry must move to the Atlantic coast.

'Don't Get Excited' Warning Is Presented By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1951, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—During the last war many young men gave up their jobs, or closed out their businesses, before it was necessary. I said at the time they were making a big mistake.

Avoid Hasty Action
Filling stations, for which a good trade has been built up, were sold in the early 1940's for one-half their value or less. In fact, I then often said in this column that "closed filling stations are the best real estate investment which a person could make". Well, the fact is that these gas stations now are selling at three or four times what those panic-stricken G. I. men sold them for ten years ago. The same applied to other businesses which could well have been carried on by some relative or friend. So don't do something foolish now.

But there was a real war on; but no World War III exists today. It may be years before such a war comes, and much could happen in the meantime. Congress has not even passed the compulsory military training bill. Because President Grant of Harvard has written a scary article on military training for ALL 18-20 year olds in a national magazine is no reason why a young man should suddenly change his life plans by giving up college or a good job. Besides, even if he is inducted for two years, these years will go very quickly. If you doubt this, just look back two years.

Business Very Different Today
Conditions are very different now than in 1940. There are now 10,000,000 more people in the United States. This means not only 10,000,000 potential customers but your chance of being drafted is proportionately less. The national income is now almost double what it was at the beginning of World War II. People now have better health, better education and better wages. Don't look back to what happened before World War II. Forget those days and recognize you are living in an entirely different age. Although manufacturing is passing into bigger units, this is not true of merchandising and service businesses. There are more successful independent merchants today than ever; while attempts to make chains of dry cleaning, beauty and specialty shops have failed. Therefore, don't panic and sell out your business just because of war threats, labor troubles or competition. Remember that for every one who gets scared and sells out, there is so much more opportunity for those who stick. Only don't borrow money to do so. Keep out of debt.

Final Advice
Whatever you do or don't do, take up some systematic study to enable you to do better work for yourself or your employer. Write tonight to your state university for a list of its extension courses. Some of these courses are truly "gold mines". Pick out one or more and "dig in" at once. They will not only help you in forging ahead here at home but will go a long way to prevent you from being used as cannon fodder abroad.

Pilots Pass Tests Despite Bad Weather

Bad weather has not affected the flights of students of the Penn Aero Service at New Castle airport, it is learned, with several pilots meeting the various flight requirements and being presented with certificates for their work. Edward Moore of 602 Euclid avenue has completed the commercial pilot's course and has been granted a commercial license. Frank Malizia of 405 Hawthorne street has enrolled as a commercial student with the air service. A cross country flight to Miami, Fla., and return was made by student Morris Becker of 512 East Moody avenue. Becker was accompanied on the trip by Joseph Gargasz of 314 Northview avenue. James Abraham, who recently passed his jet pilots' license test as announced in The News, is a former Penn Aero student.

World War II Vets Will Get Second Insurance Return

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The Veterans Administration announced Thursday it will pay about 8,000,000 World War II veterans a second GI-insurance dividend of $685,000,000 or an average $85 per man.

All ex-GI's or military personnel who held National Service Life Insurance for at least three months during the past three years are eligible for payments. VA said the first checks will be mailed out in April. The actual rate structure of each policy is still being studied by VA. But based on the initial payment last spring, dividends may range from as low as 26 cents a month per $1,000 of term insurance to $1.65 a month on a $1,000 permanent endowment policy. Term insurance dividends approximated 55 cents a month per $1,000 for most ex-GI's.

Unlike the first surplus payments, second-round dividends will be made according to the date a veteran subscribed for his insurance. Payments will cover from this anniversary date in 1948 to the same date in 1951 for those who have held their insurance for the full three years. VA said checks probably will be mailed out about two months after the anniversary date. Payments apply to lapsed policies as well as those terminated by death of the insured. Also, unlike the first dividend, no application is required for the current payment.

Call 80,000 For Draft In April

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The army on Thursday issued a draft call for 80,000 men in April, bringing the total draftees requested so far to 530,000. The 80,000 figure will maintain the high level established for the draft in January. The same number per month was requested for January, February and March. All of the draftees will be inducted into the army. The navy, air force and Marine Corps said they have no plans to use the draft.

St. Lawrence Seaway Bill Battle Opens

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Twenty-two senators on Thursday sponsored a St. Lawrence seaway bill and the strong backing indicated a showdown battle over the issue in the 82nd congress.

Sen. Green (D. R. I.) from the north Atlantic coast area which generally has opposed the seaway which would let many ocean-going ships reach Great Lakes ports, spearheaded the group. Greene told the senate that the combined power and navigation project is a defense measure which must be enacted. Also joining as sponsors were four other Atlantic seaboard senators—Lehman, N. Y.; Benton, Conn.; Pastore, R. I.; and Tobey (R), N. H.

Green said that the huge iron ore reserves from the Lake Superior region are nearly exhausted and the nation must depend more and more on ore imported from Labrador or elsewhere. Other backers have contended that unless the seaway is constructed by deepening the St. Lawrence river and building locks, the nation's steel industry must move to the Atlantic coast.

Most Men Lack Shaving Savvy

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — The daily shaver speed in the wrong places and completely defeats his own purpose in getting a good, quick shave, according to a scientific study of shaving problems conducted at the Mellon Institute, University of Pittsburgh.

The research project, which lasted for four years and included shaving tests under all conditions, revealed that improper preparation for shaving was the chief reason behind most unsatisfactory shaves. The data collected during this study is being used by the manufacturer of a new product in men's shaving—a push-button lather named Rise. In launching the self-shaver's educational campaign, the makers of Rise are seeking to guide men away from prevalent shaving habits that cause faulty results.

The expert suggestions that will help the daily shaver get a more satisfactory shave are as follows:

- (1) Remember the water is very important as a beard softener, the wetter the beard the better;
- (2) The face should be washed to remove secretion of skin glands and collected dirt;
- (3) The beard should then be rinsed but not dried and then lather should be applied;
- (4) Instead of shaving immediately after the lather is applied, the shaver should occupy himself with cleaning his teeth or his fingernails, leaving the lather set for at least a minute or longer before putting the blade in his face. This delay gives the lather a chance to do its softening job and keeps the moisture close against the whiskers.

BRAN WAFFLES

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs (separated), 1½ cups milk, ¾ cup bran, ½ cup butter or margarine (melted).

Method: Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Beat yolks well, add milk and beat to combine; stir in bran and let soak for 5 minutes or so. Add dry ingredients and stir only until moistened; stir in melted butter or margarine. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Democrats had worked to arouse opinion on the true significance of Spain were taken over by communists or determined fellow travelers. They were persistent, tireless and they knew what they wanted which was to use any and all organizations to serve Moscow's objectives.

The only fault, as I see it, is that we who believed in democracy failed. We failed largely because there was no real effort to win. The Spanish tragedy was only one of the most dismal phases of the era of Munich when so much went down the drain.

Wonder About Future
If our own doubts and fears have gone as far as this small incident illustrates, then we have good reason to wonder about the future of democracy here in the United States. Superintendent Corning is said to have been cracked down on by super-American groups in other school posts he has held. So perhaps his caution is understandable even though it must also seem pitiable.

What is outrageous is that a committee of congress—or rather its agents—should set itself up to judge what is and what is not American. I have some ideas on that score myself. My forbears came to this country 300 years ago and they came in search of freedom. It is the faith of free men that has made America great.

If we go on as we are going, if we copy what is worst in the communist conspiracy out of fear of that conspiracy, then we shall descend to the dumb and stricken submission of the totalitarianism that George Orwell described so devastatingly in his book, "1984."

Police Guns Of Aluminum

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Aluminum revolvers, a new development in the field of small arms, will soon appear in police arsenals throughout the nation.

"The aluminum revolver will change the whole picture as far as light arms are concerned," predicts E. J. Willis, development engineer for the Aluminum Co. of America in Cleveland.

Willis said detectives and policemen like the new sample lightweight revolvers they have seen.

"Detectives can now keep a revolver cocked in their pocket without any danger of having it catch on clothing and go off accidentally," Willis said.

Alcoa makes the aluminum forgings which are the basis of the revolvers for the Colt Manufacturing Co., in Hartford, Conn.

The aluminum revolver, according to Willis, weighs only a third as much as standard revolvers, holds on the target more easily and wears as well as the steel model.

BROKEN BONES OR MINDS

Grandma fell on the front steps and broke her leg. That meant a long time in bed. The bone healed after a while and she was as well as ever.

That was one kind of accident. Granddad had an accident. Something happened to his brain. His mind was damaged. He could not operate properly. He did not get any better. He required even more care than Grandma did with her broken hip.

He was "hard to get along with." People said that he was mean and stubborn and a lot of other things. They did not know about his accident. They thought that he had a bad disposition.

Grandma got good care but he did not.

Perhaps we have a few things to learn yet.

Company Alumni Supplies Help

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A pool of former employees is aiding a leading industrial firm to meet its manpower requirements.

Based on the unique pool maintained by SKF Industries, Inc., is a card index file of all persons employed by the ball and roller bearing firm since start of World War II and who are eligible for rehiring. Periodic checks by mail keep the company informed of who is interested in returning to work now or in the future.

To Personnel Director H. S. Langdon, the pool is a "gold mine" which can be a valuable supplement to other recruiting practices.

Citing its effectiveness, the SKF official told how hard-to-find automatic screw machine operators were uncovered among the "alumni." Two of the men had changed jobs after the war and did not know there was a shortage in their line.

"One was a candy store owner, the other a tenant farmer," he said. "They were glad to rejoin the company and we were certainly happy to welcome them back."

The letter "S" is the most frequently-used initial letter.

LONDON—The British Ministry of Supply gave away a trade secret in its order banning the use of zinc or copper in production of non-essential items. On the non-essential list was "antique metalware."

Democrats had worked to arouse opinion on the true significance of Spain were taken over by communists or determined fellow travelers. They were persistent, tireless and they knew what they wanted which was to use any and all organizations to serve Moscow's objectives.

The only fault, as I see it, is that we who believed in democracy failed. We failed largely because there was no real effort to win. The Spanish tragedy was only one of the most dismal phases of the era of Munich when so much went down the drain.

Wonder About Future

If our own doubts and fears have gone as far as this small incident illustrates, then we have good reason to wonder about the future of democracy here in the United States. Superintendent Corning is said to have been cracked down on by super-American groups in other school posts he has held. So perhaps his caution is understandable even though it must also seem pitiable.

What is outrageous is that a committee of congress—or rather its agents—should set itself up to judge what is and what is not American. I have some ideas on that score myself. My forbears came to this country 300 years ago and they came in search of freedom. It is the faith of free men that has made America great.

If we go on as we are going, if we copy what is worst in the communist conspiracy out of fear of that conspiracy, then we shall lose our greatness. We shall descend to the dumb and stricken submission of the totalitarianism that George Orwell described so devastatingly in his book, "1984".

SIBERIAN OATS

PALMER, Alaska—Siberian oats brought to Alaska by Henry A. Wallace in 1944 yielded 72 bushels to the acre in an experimental planting in the fertile Matanuska Valley. The territorial experiment station said the seed would be distributed to Alaska farmers next year.

Police Guns Of Aluminum

CLEVELAND. — (INS)—Aluminum revolvers, a new development in the field of small arms, will soon appear in police arsenals throughout the nation.

"The aluminum revolver will change the whole picture as far as light arms are concerned," predicts E. J. Willis, development engineer for the Aluminum Co. of America in Cleveland.

Willis said detectives and policemen like the new sample lightweight revolvers they have seen. "Detectives can now keep a revolver cocked in their pocket without any danger of having it catch on clothing and go off accidentally," Willis said.

Alcoa makes the aluminum forgings which are the basis of the revolvers for the Colt Manufacturing Co., in Hartford, Conn.

The aluminum revolver, according to Willis, weighs only a third as much as standard revolvers, holds on the target more easily and wears as well as the steel model.

BROKEN BONES OR MINDS

Grandma fell on the front steps and broke her leg. That meant a long time in bed. The bone healed after a while and she was as well as ever.

That was one kind of accident. Granddad had an accident. Something happened to his brain. His mind was damaged. It could not operate properly. He did not get any better. He required even more care than Grandma did with her broken hip.

He was "hard to get along with." People said that he was mean and stubborn and a lot of other things. They did not know about his accident. They thought that he had a bad disposition.

Grandma got good care but he did not. Perhaps we have a few things to learn yet.

Company Alumni Supplies Help

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A pool of former employees is aiding a leading industrial firm to meet its manpower requirements.

Basis of the unique pool maintained by SKF Industries, Inc., is a card index file of all persons employed by the ball and roller bearing firm since start of World War II and who are eligible for rehiring. Periodic checks by mail keep the company informed of who is interested in returning to work now or in the future.

To Personnel Director H. S. Langdon, the pool is a "gold mine" which can be a valuable supplement to other recruiting practices. Citing its effectiveness, the SKF official told how hard-to-find automatic screw machine operators were uncovered among the "alumni." Two of the men had changed jobs after the war and did not know there was a shortage in their line.

"One was a candy store owner,

the other a tenant farmer," he said. "They were glad to rejoin the company and we were certainly happy to welcome them back."

The letter "S" is the most frequently-used initial letter.

LONDON—The British Ministry of Supply gave away a trade secret in its order banning the use of Zinc or copper in production of non-essential items. On the non-essential list was "antique metalware."

In the formal opening, Virginia Domenick was flag bearer and Rosa Ora and Lois Ann Frenzel were color guards. The scout promise and scout laws were given by the president, Nancy Veelman.

The girls were engaged working on their weaving of belts, which will be continued at their next meeting.

There will be an election of officers on Wednesday evening, February 7.

St. Lucy Sodality Will Meet Sunday

On Sunday afternoon, February 4, members of the immaculate Conception sodality will gather in the auditorium of St. Lucy's church at 2 o'clock for their regular monthly meeting. Prefect Margaret Martino will be in charge.

On January 28 the sodality met at a local tavern and enjoyed a chicken dinner, and afterwards attended a local theater. Rita Felice, socialite chairman, was in charge of the occasion.

Speech Specialists Show Talk Twister

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—Speech specialists have a nasty little gimmick that can make a stammering idiot of the calmest speaker.

Demonstrated at the annual Convention of the American Speech and Hearing Society, the "stuttering machine" is nothing more than a tape recorder.

But in the hands of the speech specialists it becomes a torture rack.

The playback is delayed a fraction of a second.

As a result the speaker cannot hear what he is saying but only what he just said.

The effect is easily apparent. Most speakers become red of face, stammer, perspire, tremble and attempt to speak in ever louder tones.

MORAVIA

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONTEST

The cabinet of the Sunday school of the Moravia Presbyterian church has launched the pre-Easter campaign by a contest beginning Sunday morning, Feb. 4.

Two teams consist of the women and girls versus the men and boys. The losers to provide a dinner and program for the winners. Those who bring another to Sunday school will wear a button, red for the girls and blue for the boys.

The superintendent of the Sunday school, Walter Werner, declares "let the best team win."

Taxes, Generosity Took Joe's Money

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Joe Louis can blame increased tax rates, bad investments, and his own enormous generosity for the fact that he has little left of his $4,000,000 ring earnings.

According to veteran sports writer W. C. Heits, Louis owes between $150,000 and $240,000 in taxes. Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney paid about ten percent of their earnings to the tax collector, but Louis' obligations in his best years went as high as 80 percent.

"Joe did many good things with his dough," says Heits, in the December issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. He bought three houses for different members of his family, twice defended his little for nothing to give more than $93,000 to Army and Navy relief, and is "a soft touch" for friends in need.

Heits reports that, in addition to the homes, annuities for his children amounting to $50,000 "are the lasting evidence of the wealth that was once Joe's."

Louis' love for high-scale living is another reason given for his present financial plight. He once bought 100 suits at $150 each. During his army years, he borrowed $143,000 from promoter Mike Jacobs, and sent home expensive gifts to his friends. In 1948, he earned $40,000 for exhibitions in England and Belgium—and spent it all before he got back to this country.

When his advisers told Louis of the terrific demands that the increased taxes of 1946 and '47 made on his funds, Joe said, "That can't be." They explained the figures to him carefully and Louis said, "Then we'll pay." It was, Heits reports, just what they expected him to say.

Last September, when Louis lost his come-back match with Ezzard Charles, he was fighting just to pay back taxes.

Because of its strength, the popular name for the old Roman wall between England and Scotland was "Devil's Wall."

Third U.P. Pioneers To Take Part Sunday

Young people of the Pioneer society will participate in a youth program Sunday evening, Feb. 4, at 7:45 o'clock in Third United Presbyterian church. The service will mark the close of youth week activities. Miss Lillian Smock and Fred Beard are sponsors of the Pioneers.

Eleanor Reynolds will, preside, while Glen Glass, Charlotte McMillen, Cynthia Simione, and Robin Gray will also participate in the program. Dr. J. Paul Graham, the pastor, has chosen "Slow Down" as his sermon theme.

Prosecution In Remington Case Is Nearing End

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Prosecution testimony in the perjury trial of William Remington neared its end today with the government's final rebuttal witness scheduled to take the stand.

The former $10,000 a year Commerce Department Economist is on trial in Federal Court on charges of having lied to a Federal Grand Jury when he denied he was a Communist.

The defense has several rebuttal witnesses to be heard and summations are expected to start Monday.

Four government rebuttal witnesses testified yesterday in an attempt to prove that Remington passed along secret government information to a Soviet spy ring.

They testified that the war-time formula for converting garbage into industrial products was a "top secret" and not a "crackpot" scheme as described by Remington.

New York Central Embargoes Freight West Of Buffalo

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The New York Central railroad today embargoed all freight shipments on its lines operating west of Buffalo, N. Y., effective at once. It blamed "major disturbances" caused by the spreading strike for the action.

The embargo order affects all carload and less than carload shipments not only on the Central's lines west of Buffalo but on the Ohio Central, the Michigan Central and the Big Four railroad.

Meeting of the Hi-Mi-Tri Missionary society of the First Christian church, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until further notice because of the weather, it is announced.

King-Sized Pipe Gives Long Drag

DENVER.—(INS)—A Denver mailman claims that he owns the longest smoking pipe in the world.

Rodney Allensworth leans back in his chair, pulls his feet on the table, and rests the stem of a four-and-one-half foot Meerschaum in the V formed by the toes of his shoes.

"Sure, there may be fancier or heavier pipes," he says. "But where's one that beats 53 inches?" Allensworth says he bought the pipe for 10 marks in Vallendar, Germany, 30 years ago.

"The pipe's got a history, too," adds Allensworth, pointing to inscriptions on the china bowl. "There's a picture of a fraulein serving steins of beer to some German cavalry officers. It says the pipe was presented to one of the officers by his colleagues, who put their names under the picture."

"A motto under the picture reads: 'A full glass to everyone who faithfully serves his time.' And look here on the front of the pipe. There's a cavalryman bidding goodbye to a crying maid. The inscription? 'Little Marie, don't cry for me—others fellows are waiting for thee.'"

Auto Industry Workers Idled By Wildcat Rail Strike

DETROIT, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The creeping paralysis of the nationwide railway strike has idled 73,000 auto industry workers, 17,300 of them in Michigan, and threatens hourly to close additional plants.

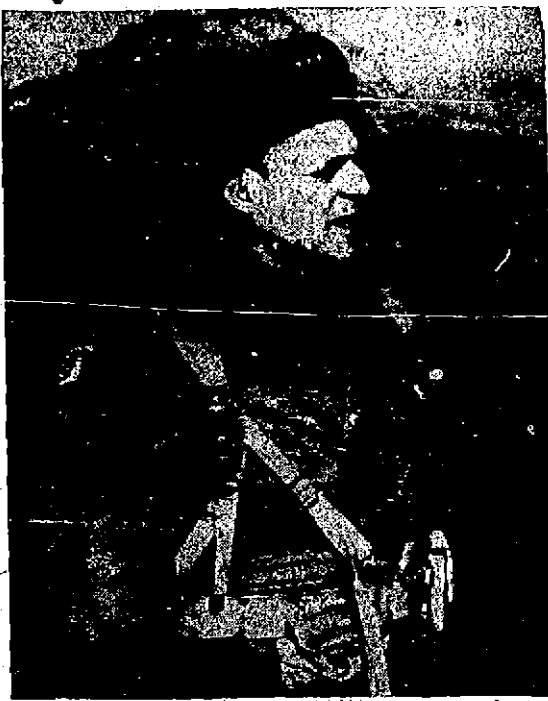

By nightfall, more than 100,000 may be sent home or working part time.

Strikes and shortages, not connected with the rail walkout, idled another 9,700 workers in Detroit. Harold Hill, the "big three" war General Motors Corp. which suspended operations in 17 plants and sent home nearly 40,000 employees. Ford Motor Co. already has closed two assembly plants, in Chicago and St. Louis, idling 4,900, and a spokesman said a shutdown of the company's other 13 assembly units throughout the nation is imminent.

Thus far, Chrysler Corp. has not been materially affected by the rail snarl. But Nash yesterday closed its plants in Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., affecting 14,000 employees.

Wildcat Strike Of Railroaders Hits Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The wildcat strike of railroaders spread to Pittsburgh today when part of the overnight shift quit their switching duties in the downtown yards of the Pennsylvania railroad.

A company spokesman said about "seven" men had left their jobs, but an unofficial union spokesman estimated the number closer to fifty.

He was quoted as saying "we're getting sick and tired."

Railroad officials said walkouts in other sections of the country had forced a drastic cut in service affecting the Pittsburgh area, and that tie-ups in local yards would curtail further schedule cancellations.

The walkout has not yet spread to the two other major lines, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, serving this industrial center, according to railroad officials.

Woman Is Shot Six Times By Her Husband

Sensational Attack Made Just Outside Brooklyn Courtroom

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (INS)—An unemployed taxicab driver pumped six bullets into the body of his estranged wife Thursday outside a Brooklyn courtroom.

The assault was disarmed on the spot by the judge who had just ruled on the dispute.

The courtroom drama came at noon a moment after Judge Juvenal Marchisio issued an order restraining Harry Starr from bothering his 38-year-old wife, Helen, whom Starr claimed has been "exercising a supernatural power over me."

Mrs. Starr, an attractive, auburn-haired mother of three children, was taken to nearby Cumberland hospital with wounds in the abdomen. Her condition was critical. The couple has been married 18 years.

The mass burst of bullets came exactly one minute after Judge Marchisio ordered the six-foot Starr to stay away from her.

Fires Six Times

Starr, apparently crazed by the court decision, stopped his wife as she was walking down the stairs of Brooklyn family court and fired at her once. Police said that as she lay on the sidewalk, he fired five more bullets from his foreign-made gun into his wife's body.

Judge Marchisio, who was descending the courtroom steps at the time, saw the shooting, hurried to Starr's side and calmly demanded:

"Give me that gun!"

Starr, who said he purchased the gun in Florida last week for $45, quietly turned it over to the judge.

Mounted Patrolman Arthur Bennett, who was across the street at the time of the shooting, raced to the scene and saw the judge holding the gun.

Mistaking him for the would-be killer, Bennett said he poked his gun into Marchisio's ribs and ordered the judge to give him the gun, said Bennett.

"It's a good thing Justice Marchisio quickly identified himself because I thought he was the man who did the shooting."

A court attaché said that prior to the shooting Starr was ordered by the judge to take a psychiatric examination tomorrow at Kings County Hospital because of threats he allegedly had made against his wife's life.

In Court Litigation

The attaché also said that the family had been in court litigation over money matters and that Starr had been ordered to pay $45 a week for the support of his wife and three children.

Police quoted Starr as saying: "We have been married 18 years. Recently my wife began exercising supernatural power over me. She made me do things over which I had no control.

She put powder in my shoes which tore my feet into shreds. I just had to leave her last July."

Mrs. Starr told police at her bedside in Cumberland Hospital that her husband said he wanted to speak to her as she was walking out of the building. She added:

"I agreed to hear what he had to say and followed him outside. Then he pulled out a gun and shot me."

Police said that when Starr was searched they discovered 100 unused cartridges in his pocket.

Detectives quoted him as saying: "She had it coming to her. She was a witch with a supernatural spirit over me."

Work On Memorial Chapel For Heroes Nears Completion

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2 (INS)—Work neared completion today upon an elaborate four chaplains' memorial chapel being constructed in Philadelphia to mark one of World War II's most heroic incidents.

President Truman has been invited to make the only address at dedication ceremonies Feb. 3.

On that date eight years ago, the U. S. troop transport Dorchester was torpedoed and sunk in the north Atlantic—its four chaplains huddled in prayer on the deck.

The chaplains gave their lives to enlisted men who had none and elected to go down with the ship in unique inter-faith martyrdom. The chaplains were:

Rev. George L. Fox, Methodist, of Massachusetts; Dr. Alexander Goode, a rabbi, of Washington, D. C.; Rev. Clark V. Poling, Dutch Reformed church, of Schenectady, N. Y.; and Rev. John P. Washington, Roman Catholic, of Newark, N. J.

A campaign to build the chapel was started six years ago by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, religious author and father of one of the four chaplains.

Support for the venture was immediate and widespread. To date, more than $300,000 has been donated and spent on the basement memorial in the Raptist Temple church which is expected to hold 350 worshippers.

A striking mural depicting the sinking of the Dorchester has been painted by Nils Holger of New York and placed on the wall. An organ and carillon bells are ready for use.

Heart Disease Afflicts Many Here In America

Forty per cent of Americans have high blood pressure, according to Dr. Howard B. Sprague, president of the American Heart Association, which opened its campaign for funds in western Pennsylvania, February 1.

Dr. Sprague noted however, that of this forty per cent, only between five and ten per cent have serious high pressure.

The Heart Association is asking for $8,000,000 in its national campaign to halt diseases of the heart. The association uses its funds primarily for research, to discover new means of combating heart diseases, Dr. Sprague stated.

"We could build hospitals indefinitely for diseased hearts, but we are trying to eliminate the diseases."

In opening the campaign, he stated that high blood pressure is the most common of the afflictions. However, Dr. Sprague stated that coronary thrombosis and rheumatic fever are also common diseases of the heart. Elimination of heart diseases, which cause five times as many deaths as the next five causes of death combined, is the goal of the American Heart Association.

Calvin L. Rasey, campaign chairman for Lawrence county, heard Dr. Sprague speak at the opening of the campaign in Pittsburgh, Thursday evening.

Milk Control Meeting At Pittsburgh Feb. 6-7

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2 (INS)—The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission will meet in Pittsburgh Feb. 6-7 to hear complaints of dealers and producers that their costs have increased since the last milk price boost on Sept. 1.

The hearing was requested by the Dairyman's Cooperative Sales Association of Western Pennsylvania and the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers Association.

Korea Casualties For U.S. Troops Have Now Reached 46,814

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (INS)—The Defense Department announced Thursday the official list of American casualties in Korea now totals 46,814, an increase of 813 over last week.

Woman Is Shot Six Times By Her Husband

Sensational Attack Made Just Outside Brooklyn Courtroom

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—An unemployed taxicab driver pumped six bullets into the body of his estranged wife Thursday outside a Brooklyn courtroom.

The assailant was disarmed on the spot by the judge who had just ruled on the dispute.

The courtroom drama came at noon a moment after Judge Juvenal Marchisio issued an order restraining Harry Starr from bothering his 39-year-old wife, Helen, whom Starr claimed has been "exercising a supernatural power over me."

Mrs. Starr, an attractive auburn-haired mother of three children, was taken to nearby Cumberland hospital with wounds in the abdomen. Her condition was critical. The couple has been married 18 years.

The mass burst of bullets came exactly one minute after Judge Marchisio ordered the six-foot Starr to stay away from her.

Fires Six Times
Starr, apparently crazed by the court decision, stopped his wife as she was walking down the stairs of Brooklyn family court and fired at her once. Police said that as she lay on the sidewalk, he fired five more bullets from his foreign-made gun into his wife's body.

Judge Marchisio, who was descending the courtroom steps at the time, saw the shooting, hurried to Starr's side and calmly demanded: "Give me that gun!"

Starr, who said he purchased the gun in Florida last week for $45, quietly turned it over to the judge.

Mounted Patrolman Arthur Bennett, who was across the street at the time of the shooting, raced to the scene and saw the judge holding the gun.

Mistaking him for the would-be killer, Bennett said he poked his gun into Marchisio's ribs and ordered the judge to give him the gun. Said Bennett:

"It's a good thing Justice Marchisio quickly identified himself because I thought he was the man who did the shooting."

A court attaché said that prior to the shooting Starr was ordered by the judge to take a psychiatric examination tomorrow at Kings County Hospital because of threats he allegedly had made against his wife's life.

In Court Litigation
The attaché also said that the family had been in court litigation over money matters and that Starr had been ordered to pay $45 a week for the support of his wife and three children.

Police quoted Starr as saying: "We have been married 18 years. Recently my wife began exercising supernatural power over me. She made me do things over which I had no control.

She put powder in my shoes which tore my feet into shreds. I just had to leave her last July."

Mrs. Starr told police at her bedside in Cumberland Hospital that her husband said he wanted to speak to her as she was walking out of the building. She added:

"I agreed to hear what he had to say and followed him outside. Then he pulled out a gun and shot me."

Police said that when Starr was searched they discovered 100 unused cartridges in his pocket.

Detectives quoted him as saying: "She had it coming to her. She was a witch with a supernatural spirit over me."

Work On Memorial Chapel For Heroes Nears Completion

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Work neared completion today upon an elaborate four chaplain memorial chapel being constructed in Philadelphia to mark one of World War II's most heroic incidents.

President Truman has been invited to make the only address at dedication ceremonies Feb. 3.

On that date eight years ago, the U. S. troop transport Dorchester was torpedoed and sunk in the north Atlantic—its four chaplains huddled in prayer on the deck.

The chaplains gave their lives to enlisted men who had none and elected to go down with the ship in unique inter-faith martyrdom. The chaplains were:

Rev. George L. Fox, Methodist, of Massachusetts; Dr. Alexander Goode, a rabbi, of Washington, D. C.; Rev. Clark V. Poling, Dutch Reformed church, of Schenectady, N. Y.; and Rev. John P. Washington, Roman Catholic, of Newark, N. J.

A campaign to build the chapel was started six years ago by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, religious author and father of one of the four chaplains.

Support for the venture was immediate and widespread. To date, more than $300,000 has been donated and spent on the basement memorial in the Baptist Temple church which is expected to hold 350 worshippers.

A striking mural depicting the sinking of the Dorchester has been painted by Nils Holger of New York and placed on the wall. An organ and carillon bells are ready for use.

Heart Disease Afflicts Many Here In America

Forty per cent of Americans have high blood pressure, according to Dr. Howard B. Sprague, president of the American Heart Association, which opened its campaign for funds in western Pennsylvania, February 1.

Dr. Sprague noted however, that of this forty per cent, only between five and ten per cent have serious high pressure.

The Heart Association is asking for $8,000,000 in its national campaign to halt diseases of the heart. The association uses its funds primarily for research, to discover new means of combating heart diseases, Dr. Sprague stated.

We could build hospitals indefinitely for diseased benefits, but we are trying to eliminate the diseases.

In opening the campaign, he stated that high blood pressure is the most common of the afflictions. However, Dr. Sprague stated that coronary thrombosis and rheumatic fever are also common diseases of the heart. Elimination of heart diseases, which cause five times as many deaths as the next five causes of death combined, is the goal of the American Heart Association.

Calvin L. Rasey, campaign chairman for Lawrence county, heard Dr. Sprague speak at the opening of the campaign in Pittsburgh, Thursday evening.

Scrap Collector Learns Values

PHILADELPHIA. — (INS) — No woman would knowingly throw money into a waste basket. There are few, however, who realize that scraps which are discarded daily can be very valuable.

But a one-woman "save-those-scraps" campaign is now being led by a Philadelphia social worker, Miss Frances May Cramer. She has formed a scrap collectors' club, and under her direction have made more than seven hundred quilts.

Miss Cramer's motto is: "Think twice before you throw anything away. It may be money."

Theater Owners Start TV Fight

NEW YORK. — (INS) — Theater owners throughout the nation are flexing their muscles to combat TV and other entertainment media seeking to tempt the regular movie-goers away from the box office.

The first major step was taken in New York where five rival theater circuits joined forces with 20th Century-Fox in an all-out drive to capture the holiday crowds.

They turned over 100 theaters during the Thanksgiving Holiday for a simultaneous showing of the film "Cabin in the Sky" and "About Eve."

The plan, which was backed up by a heavy advertising budget, is expected to spread to other major cities.

Predicts Princess Engagement in '51

LONDON. — (INS) — Britain's leading woman astrologer, Katina Theodosiou, forecast that Princess Margaret Rose will become engaged "between August and October 1951."

The 34-year-old Anglo-Greek editor of the Astrological Bulletin said that a close study of Margaret's horoscope indicated that the engagement "will most likely be a long one." She added:

"Princess Margaret may not marry until 1953 although the most auspicious time for her marriage would be between the autumn of 1951 and the spring of 1952."

The pretty dark-eyed-brunette astrologer said that she could not name the lucky man but that Margaret's horoscope showed "a Scotsman" and "a man with a naval background" stood the best chance.

Miss Theodosiou said there was still a "dark horse" element in the Princess Margaret Rose stakes.

"Of course she may marry one of the young men she already knows,"

Miss Theodosiou said, "but there is a possibility of a young man she meets in the spring of 1951 becoming the bridegroom."

She insisted that Margaret who has "the strongest and most original personality in the royal family," would "marry for love."

She forecast also that Mama Queen Elizabeth — would not entirely approve of her daughter's choice but would come round eventually.

Miss Theodosiou, who accurately predicted that Princess Elizabeth's first child would be a boy and the second a girl, hailed that Margaret would not turn from duty to serve royal respectability after her marriage.

"It is hoped," said the astrologer, "that the husband of the princess will not be of jealous temperament because his wife will certainly continue to be a focal-point of admiration."

There was disappointment for the United States in Katina's general forecast. She predicted Margaret would not visit the United States until 1964 at the earliest.

Appelman Prayer Service Tonight At First Baptist

The weekly prayer and planning meeting of the Christ For Greater New Castle Campaign, with Dr. Hyman Appelman, will move this evening to the First Baptist church, East at North street. The meetings have previously been held at the Y.M.C.A.

The service will get under way tonight at 7 o'clock with a prayer service directed by the chairman, Rev. George Jones. This portion of the service will continue until 8 o'clock with the members being divided into groups. At 8 o'clock, the committee report period will take place. At 9 o'clock, the various committee chairmen, who desire to have a meeting with their workers, will assemble.

It has been announced that 31 churches now are cooperating in the campaign which will take place at the Scottish Rite Cathedral from February 26 through March 18. John Troy, nationally known song leader will be the musical director for the campaign. He will direct a several hundred voiced choir made up from the churches of the city.

Financing of a portion of the campaign budget is going forth through the sale of gift certificates. Through this means, fewer offerings will be lifted at the Cathedral to meet the campaign budget. J. B. Welker has been chosen by the finance committee as treasurer for the campaign.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Scrap Collector Learns Values

PHILADELPHIA, — (INS)—No woman would knowingly throw money into a waste basket. There are few, however, who realize that scraps which are discarded daily can be very valuable.

But a one-woman "save-those-scraps" campaign is now being led by a Philadelphia social worker. Miss Frances May Cramer transforms discarded tatters into hundreds of useful things.

The donors of the scraps, in fact, often buy back the transformations, and wonder: "Why didn't I think of that?"

The transformations may take the form of patchwork aprons, pot-holders, character dolls, cuddly animals and other toys and useful articles. Many mothers at the settlement house Miss Cramer directs have learned the value of the scraps, and under her direction have made more than seven-hundred quilts.

Miss Cramer's motto is: "Think twice before you throw anything away. It may be money."

Predicts Princess Engagement in '51

By FRED DONERFINGER
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON. — (INS) — Britain's leading woman astrologer, Katina Theodosiou, forecast that say Princess Margaret Rose will become engaged "between August and October 1951."

The 34-year-old Anglo-Greek editor of the Astrological Bulletin said that a close study of Margaret's horoscope indicated that the engagement "will most likely be a long one." She added:

"Princess Margaret may not marry until 1953 although the most auspicious time for her marriage would be between the autumn of 1951 and the spring of 1952."

The pretty dark-eyed brunette astrologer said that she could not name the lucky man but that Margaret's horoscope showed "a Scotsman" and "a man with a naval background" stood the best chance.

Miss Theodosiou said there was still a "dark horse" element in the Princess Margaret Rose stakes.

"Of course she may marry one of the young men she already knows,

Miss Theodosiou, who accurately predicted that Princess Elizabeth's first child would be a boy and the second a girl, hinted that Margaret would not turn from gaiety to severe staid respectability after her marriage.

"It is hoped," said the astrologer, "that the husband of the princess will not be of jealous temperament because his wife will certainly continue to be a focal-point of admiration."

There was disappointment for the United States in Katina's general forecast. She predicted Margaret would not visit the United States until 1954 at the earliest.

"The princess' travel aspect is strongest in the spring of 1950 and spring of 1953," she said.

The area of the Baltic sea is 160,000 square miles. It has a great influx of fresh water, and so contains proportionally little salt.

Production Of Fats-Oils HighExpect Last Year's Record To Be Passed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department forecasts that production of fats and oils this year will be at record levels.

Fats and oils output is certain, the department says, to exceed last year's production of 12 billion pounds, a record in itself.

Production of lard, tallow and greases is expected to increase moderately this year over last.

Flaxseed output will top the 1949-50 production of 725 million pounds. Peanut and soybean oil production is expected to surpass last year's output by considerable margins because of larger crops last fall.

Increased production in eight for most fats and oils more than makes up the department says, for a smaller output anticipated this year for vegetable oils and cottonseed oil.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports the production of meat in commercial units during December totaled one billion, 877 million pounds.

That production of meat was four per cent more than November and five per cent more than a year ago.

At the same time, the bureau says that commercial meat production during the entire year of 1950 amounted to more than 20 billion pounds.

The 1950 meat production topped 1949 output by three per cent and 1948 slaughter by five per cent.

Compared with 1949, beef production during 1950 showed an increase of one per cent and pork output, a boost of six per cent. Veal production in 1950 was down eight per cent and mutton and lamb down one per cent.

The Agricultural Department announces that 1950 production of nonfat dry milk solids was the second highest on record.

The 1950 output amounted to almost 845 million pounds, down 10 per cent from last year, but higher than any other year on record.

The department says that dry whole milk production for the year totaled less than 129 million pounds, up three per cent from 1949, but lower than any other year since 1942.

The forest service announces that George M. Hunt, director of the largest wood research center in the world—The Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis.—will retire March 31.

Dr. J. Alfred Hall, director of the Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station, Portland, Ore., will succeed Hunt, who is retiring after 40 years of service to forestry.

Hall, in turn, will be succeeded by Robert W. Cowling, present chief of the Division of Forest Economics at the Portland experiment station.

Production Of Fats-Oils High

Expect Last Year's Record To Be Passed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(INS)—The Agriculture Department forecasts that production of fats and oils this year will be at record levels.

Fats and oils output is certain, the department says, to exceed last year's production of 12 billion pounds, a record in itself.

Production of lard, tallow and greases is expected to increase moderately this year over last.

Flaxseed output will top the 1949-50 production of 725 million pounds. Peanut and soybean oil production is expected to surpass last year's output by considerable margins because of larger crops last fall.

The increased production in sight for most fats and oils more than makes up, the department says, for a smaller output anticipated this year for vegetable oils and cottonseed oil.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that production of meat in commercial plants during December totaled one billion, 977 million pounds.

That production of meat was four per cent more than November and five per cent more than a year ago.

At the same time, the bureau says that commercial meat production during the entire year of 1950 amounted to more than 20 billion pounds.

The 1950 meat production topped 1949 output by three per cent and 1948 slaughter by five per cent.

Compared with 1949, beef production during 1950 showed an increase of one per cent and pork output a boost of six per cent. Veal production in 1950 was down eight per cent and mutton and lamb down one per cent.

City Hall News Briefs

Finance Director Albert A. Hoyland and Treasurer Bernard N. Hanlon, having received authorization from city council, destroyed by fire, bonds worth $250,000, which had been retired, or paid off. They were burned in city hall furnace. The $250,000, has been paid off since 1947, according to Mr. Hoyland.

Police court receipts during January totaled $1,215.55, according to a report submitted by Police Chief Robert D. Hanna to Mayor John F. Haven. The report will be submitted Monday when council meets. It shows 693 paid fines, and 15 defendants who placed cash bonds for police court appearance failed to appear for trial.

Building operations last month when completed will cost $75,650, according to an estimate given City Building Clerk Edward Longacre. Last month he issued permits for 10, one story frame dwellings at an estimated cost of $67,500, one small building, $300, two non-dwelling structures, $7,150, and remodeling, $500.

Father-Daughter Recuperate From Heart Operations

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(INS)—A father and daughter from Millin, Pa., are recuperating in Philadelphia's Hahnemann Hospital today from rare heart operations.

The operation on the father, Andrew Dunn, 50, was performed to alleviate a severe angina pectoris ailment. It was the first time the operation had ever been performed in the city.

Dr. Claude S. Beck of Western Reserve University in Cleveland flew to Philadelphia to perform the surgery on Jan. 19. He developed the operation, and no other surgeon has ever attempted it.

His daughter, Mrs. Virginia Walters, 29, underwent an operation at the hospital Jan. 18 to eliminate a blockage of the mitral valve. She must be well enough to leave the institution today.

Mrs. Walters was not informed when her father was brought to the hospital, for fear that worry over his condition might hinder her convalescence. She was later permitted to visit him, however.

The operation on the daughter took two and a half hours; her father's was three and a half hours long. Dunn is now sitting up in bed, but another less serious operation still must be performed.

Then physicians hope he will be able to resume a normal life and go back to work as an electrician.

The report will be submitted Monday when council meets. It shows 693 paid fines, and 15 defendants who placed cash bonds for police court appearance failed to appear for trial.

Building operations last month when completed will cost $75,650, according to an estimate given City Building Clerk Edward Longacre. Last month he issued permits for 10, one story frame dwellings at an estimated cost of $67,500; one small building, $500, two non-dwelling structures, $7,150, and remodeling, $500.

Father-Daughter Recuperate From Heart Operations

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(INS)—A father and daughter from Mifflin, Pa., are recuperating in Philadelphia's Hahnemann Hospital today from rare heart operations.

The operation on the father, Andrew Dunn, 50, was performed to alleviate a severe angina pectoris ailment. It was the first time the operation had ever been performed in the city.

Dr. Claude S. Beck of Western Reserve University in Cleveland flew to Philadelphia to perform the surgery Jan. 19. He developed the operation, and no other surgeon has ever attempted it.

His daughter, Mrs. Virginia Walters, 29, underwent an operation at the hospital Jan. 16 to eliminate a blocking of the mitral valve. She may be well enough to leave the institution today.

Mrs. Walters was not informed when her father was brought to the hospital, for fear that worry over his condition might hinder her convalescence. She was later permitted to visit him, however.

The operation on the daughter took two and a half hours; her father's was three and a half hours long. Dunn is now sitting up in bed, but another less serious operation must still be performed. Then physicians hope he will be able to resume a normal life and go back to work as an electrician.

County Principals Have Dinner Meeting

School principals of Lawrence county had their regular dinner meeting at the New Penn hotel Thursday evening. President J. Arthur Turek was in charge of the meeting.

Following the repast the chairman of the evening's program committee introduced George Harvey, instructor of Elmer Wheeler sales training at New Castle Business college, who gave a very interesting talk on the method of proper dieting, which was well received.

At this point business of the organization was taken up. Several suggested ways of holding bomb drills in the public schools of the county were also discussed.

President of the organization, Mr. Turek, who is also county chairman of the Pennsylvania Forensic league, announced to the high school principals that the one-act contest will be held on March 3, and all forensic events will be held March 10.

The president appointed Mrs. Grace McCreary, principal of Hickory Heights elementary school, and Mrs. Ruth Pitzer, principal of Shephard and Taylor joint schools, as committee for the next meeting, to be held March 1.

Dr. Mary Baker, and Dr. W. J. Hinkson, local doctors, Mr. Leo F. Gerber, Executive director of the Pennsylvania Cancer division, Mrs. Jane McIlwraith, of the Educational committee of the Pennsylvania division discussed different aspects of cancer education, and Mrs. Blake Waldo, Lawrence county unit captain, presided.

Quadruplets Born At Boston Today

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Quadruplets—two boys and two girls—were born today to Mrs. Robert J. Allen of Hyde Park at Boston's Audubon hospital.

The quads, believed the first ever born in Massachusetts, were transferred to Children's hospital because Audubon hospital lacks facilities to take care of that many children in its nursery.

Mrs. Allen and her children were reported in good condition by a spokesman, who said the babies averaged about three pounds each. The first was born at 7:11 a. m., and the fourth at 7:25.

The Allens have one other child.

Now that the first month of winter is out of the way, the impatient countryman sits every bit of outdoor gossip for news of the returning springtime. Whether in blur of storm or under clear skies, he notes the span of daylight stretching farther from the fading dusk of dawn to the thickening dusk of evening. He makes a hurried trip back to the swale where the shrub cabbage thrives, to see how far the daring green augers of this hardy swamp resident have pushed up through the frost-blanketed earth. With Groundhog Day once more at hand he girds for another season of shameless revelry, hopefully addicted to the warm, gentle rains and fragrant southerly winds which bear the promise of another spring.

During these dead-of-winter days the woodland takes on a mysterious breeding silence that carries the hunter out looking for furred and feathered entertainment. The countryman may swing a wide circle through good squirrel territory and hear no sound but his own muffled footsteps, the crackle of dry twigs or the banshee wail of branches rubbing in the arctic breeze. On any other day in the same woods his every move will be amply reported by bushy-tailed sentinels who seem to be in every tree.

We explored a portion of an abandoned orchard one recent gloomy afternoon. There was a threat of snow in the gray overcast, but this turned out to be all bluff, and later the sun made occasional appearances.

Gnats and Twisted
At one time this was a well-kept lot of Baldwin and Northern Spies and Ben Davis. Now the old trees are gnarled and twisted, throwing their skeletal limbs high in air above the table of briars which have usurped the hillside. We searched out all the promising cranberries in the decaying trunks, hoping to surprise a screech owl in residence. Waves of birds work over these neglected trees at all seasons, reaping an insect harvest from cracks and crevices.

There is a fascination about an abandoned orchard. Chipmunks and deer mice move in when the orchardist moves out. The groundhog follows soon after, and before long the white-faced hornet hangs her paper cone on a convenient branch. Blow by blow surely the laws of nature assert themselves and the old trees which have known sun and wind and sleet and blizzard will one day moulder into the dust to which all things must return.

On the ridge above the neglected orchard we walked among some big pines and maples and gum trees. Part of an ancient fence were still visible. Deep in the soft heart of a decaying tree the big pileated woodpecker had punched out the immense cavities which are his sure trade-mark. Later we heard him grumbling in the distance but got no glimpse of him.

Magnificent Beech tree
We sat a change under the beech which looks out the woods and soon encountered a magnificent beech tree, towering high above his fellows. This is perhaps the grandest beech of my acquaintance and I always stop to admire the solid artistry of this lone forest monarch. The trim gray trunk, its light bark carved into hundreds of canyons, rises in a solid shaft high above the roof of the forest. At this commanding height it spreads wide arms of graceful beauty, completely dominating the timbered community.

There was a bumper crop of beech nuts last fall. The ground beneath the gray-clad groves is littered with the spiny nut cases. Wild pheasants once fed on this beech "mast" and the little furred folk of the woodland paths must surely have stored away bushels of the toothsome nuts.

We left the ridge and quartered down through the timber, finally leaving the woods by way of an ancient pasture now an almost impenetrable tangle of thorn apple and husky blackberry canes. Across the valley some sportsmen were training a brace of beagles and we could hear the frenzied music as the dogs chivvied a disturbed cottontail.

No matter what the weather may be, when February rolls around the countryman senses a quickened tempo in the expectant countryside. Now the darkest days of the cold months are over. The sun careers ever closer, bringing the genial warmth which soon will start the sap rising and set the crows to quiet house hunting among the tree tops. The countryman works over his trout tackle and hopes fervently the groundhog plays his cards right!

Wider Rights Of Way Urged For Highways

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—(INS)

—Purchase of rights of way wider than ordinarily bought for highways prior to new construction was urged today as a weapon against unsightly roadside signs.

R. B. Murray, Jr., president of the Pennsylvania Economy League, told members of the Pennsylvania Roadside Council that attempts to acquire wider rights after highways have been built would be too costly.

Park H. Martin, director of the Allegheny county conference on community development, called for "adequate zoning" to overcome roadside billboards which the council has battled for many years.

"That the billboard industry seems to hold that they have some vested right to the indiscriminate erection of billboards along the major highways is to my mind not based on good legal grounds and certainly not an enlightened public relations policy," Martin said.

He claimed outdoor advertising signs adjacent to the Penn-Lincoln parkway and Squirrel Hill tunnel, two million dollar Pittsburgh road improvement projects, reflected "total disregard" of the public interest.

During the closing session, Mrs. Cyril G. Fox of Devon was re-elected president.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

"Woman-Hater"

Don Wheaton doesn't have much use for women. On the job, he has a contemptuous attitude toward those of his fellow-workers who are of the "gentler sex." Socially, though he likes the companionship of the ladies, he treats some of them in a domineering, almost hostile way. But there are some women of whom he seems over-awed. These he avoids, meanwhile making uncomplimentary remarks about "aggressive females."

How does a man get this way? Why are there as many men as there are who seem to be engaging in a "battle of the sexes?"

Of course, there are a variety of reasons. But over and over again, one finds the answer in the individual's early life experience. Don's mother was one of those women, for instance, who smothered him with attention and affection. Some boys would have given up and become a "woman's boy." Don fought it out. But the struggle told on him. He can't really accept the idea that there might be women who wouldn't try to dominate him. One of his fellow "woman-haters" as a child was treated harshly by a mother who really didn't want to be bothered with him. He's convinced that no woman is truly friendly.

No matter how she may act. Fortunately for Don's family relations, only a relatively small number of men have developed such attitudes but it's important for us to try to understand the reasons why there are any "woman-haters."

Who Gives Housewarming?

Question: A says that upon moving into a new home, the occupants should invite all of their friends to a housewarming. B says that a housewarming is something your friends give you. Just like a shower. He says that giving a housewarming is practically inviting your friends to come and bring a gift. Who is right?

Answer: Customarily, the host and hostess give the housewarming after they are completely established in their new home. However, numerous people are of the same opinion as "B" and on hearing that the new occupants are ready for visitors arrange a housewarming for them. But in the latter situation, you must be very, very sure that the hostess is ready and willing to entertain. Personally, I should prefer to wait an invitation from the hostess.

Question: Is it necessary to write a letter of acknowledgement to someone who has sent a sympathy card?
Answer: Technically speaking, cards do not require acknowledgment; but you might write a short note thanking the sender for her kind thought of you.
Question: Is it rude for a man to suggest to his partner that they sit down when he feels that he has danced sufficiently and the orchestra continues playing?

Answer: This suggestion should come from the woman and not her partner. It is always the privilege of the woman and not the man to complain of fatigue and suggest "sitting out" the rest of the dance. Her partner should continue until either she or the music stops, unless, of course, he is ill and cannot go on.

Question: At a wedding when I go down the aisle with the usher should I take his arm or merely walk beside him?
Answer: If he offers his arm, which he should, take it.

Aggipah peak in the Salmon National forest of central Idaho was named after the Chinook Indian dialect for salmon.

MacArthur Hails Care Of Wounded

TOKYO, Feb. 2.—The death rate among the wounded in Korea is the lowest in history, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in a statement praising the Army Nurse Corps on its 50th anniversary.

He said that only 70 patients died out of 30,000 admitted to the hospital which had been in service in Korea the longest.

"In the conflict in Korea the medical service has rendered magnificent care, both in keeping our men fit to fight and in treating our casualties," MacArthur said. "Never before have we held the death rate at so low a figure."

Rice Paddy Ranger Goes On Air Despite Warfare

By FRANK CONNITT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN KOREA, Feb. 2. — Winning or withdrawing, the rice paddy ranger goes on the air every evening at an hour before midnight. He is the only all-night disc jockey in the world who estimates his audience by the fluctuation of the front lines.

State-side platter spinners may face occupational hazards in the form of phone calls from insomniacs or sentimental requests from the lovelorn, but consider the plight of the rice paddy ranger. He must be ready to blow his broadcasting booth on a few minutes notice should the Chinese Communists, notoriously tone-deaf to the charms of be-bop, get too close for comfort.

"If I'd remained in Seoul a couple of hours longer," the rice paddy ranger said the other night, "I'd have been the first disc jockey to ever put on a Chinese bugler playing the signal to attack on the air."

Most Popular Feature

The rice paddy ranger is the most popular feature, consistently pulling the most mail, in the 21 hour per day schedule of the armed forces radio service here in Korea. He takes over the microphone at 11 each night and signs off four hours later.

In that period, he manages to play between 60 and 75 request numbers for his night owl audience. Ever since returning to Korea, I've been accumulating data indicating how tenaciously Americans cling to the furbelows of victory no matter how serious the reverses on the fighting line.

We've had rear area floor shows and double feature picture productions while the combat zone shrunk progressively southward. We've maintained the trappings of triumph right in the teeth of the deluge and the morale of headquarters staff was never higher.

By Favorite Memento

But by favorite memento of the civilization we've left behind is the rice paddy ranger, playing everything from Bing to Bop and Eckstine to Ellington. Culture marches on, even in the swamps of Korea, and the rice paddy ranger is a firm, strong voice banishing the blues of the homesick.

The AFPS has been alternating the actual jockeying chores among its staff personnel, but, of late, a lad named corporal Ed Knowles of Elmira, N. Y., has been chaperoning the turntables.

Up until 10:58 every night, Cpl. Knowles is a quiet, modest GI, hardly different from any other soldier in his headquarters.

But at the Cinderella hour of eleven, he steps out of character and becomes a voice wafting memories of the drugstore juke box and the hometown disc jockey to thousands of GIs stationed in Korea.

Sergeant Jack O'Lone of Washington, D. C., the Korean program director, estimates that the rice paddy ranger pulls 80 per cent of the mail aimed at the station.

Until Night Before City Fell

The ranger continued his operations from Seoul until the night before the city fell. Station attaches were wistful about the chances for a record-breaking audience during those last hour when thousands of American soldiers were crowded into the Seoul area.

But they realistically faced the fact that these same thousands may have had something better to do than listen to a disc jockey, such as getting the hell out of there before the Communists seized the town.

The last number played by the rice paddy ranger that evening was "It's A Great Day" by Dave Barber. Then the station packed up and hit the road. Three days later the ranger resumed his nightly tune-fests from another Korean town behind the lines. It takes more than a withdrawal to push him off the air.

Rice Paddy Ranger Goes On Air Despite Warfare

By FRANK CONNIFF
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN KOREA, Feb. 2. — Winning or withdrawing, the rice paddy ranger goes on the air every evening at an hour before midnight. He is the only all-night disc jockey in the world who estimates his audience by the fluctuation of the front lines.

Stateside platter spinners may face occupational hazards in the form of phone calls from insomniacs or sentimental requests from the lovelorn, but consider the plight of the rice paddy ranger. He must be ready to blow his broadcasting booth on a few minutes notice should the Chinese Communists, notoriously tone-deaf to the charms of be-bop, get too close for comfort.

"If I'd remained in Seoul a couple of hours longer," the rice paddy ranger said the other night, "I'd have been the first disc jockey to ever put on a Chinese bugler playing the signal to attack on the air."

Most Popular Feature

The rice paddy ranger is the most popular feature, consistently pulling the most mail, in the 21 hour per day schedule of the armed forces radio service here in Korea. He takes over the microphone at 11 each night and signs off four hours later.

In that period, he manages to play between 60 and 75 request numbers for his night owl audience. Ever since returning to Korea, I've been accumulating data indicating how tenaciously Americans cling to the furbelows of victory no matter how serious the reverses on the fighting line.

We've had rear area floor shows and double feature picture productions while the combat zone shrunk progressively southward. We've maintained the trappings of triumph right in the teeth of the deluge and the morale of headquarters staff was never higher.

By Favorite Memento

But by favorite memento of the civilization we've left behind is the rice paddy ranger, playing everything from Bing to Bop and Eckstine to Ellington. Culture marches on, even in the swamps of Korea, and the rice paddy ranger is a firm, strong voice banishing the blues of the homesick.

The AFPS has been alternating the actual jockeying chores among its staff personnel, but, of late, a lad named corporal Ed Knowles of Elmira, N. Y., has been chaperoning the turntables.

Up until 10:55 every night, Cpl. Knowles is a quiet, modest GI, hardly different from any other soldier in his headquarters.

But at the Cinderella hour of eleven, he steps out of character and becomes a voice waiting memories of the drugstore juke box and the hometown disc jockey to thousands of GIs stationed in Korea.

Sergeant Jack O'Lone of Washington, D. C., the Korean program director, estimates that the rice paddy ranger pulls 80 per cent of the mail aimed at the station.

Until Night Before City Fell
The ranger continued his operations from Seoul until the night before the city fell.

Station attaches were wistful about the chances for a record-breaking audience during those last hour when thousands of American soldiers were crowded into the Seoul area.

But they realistically faced the fact that these same thousands may have had something better to do than listen to a disc jockey, such as getting the hell out of there before the Communists seized the town.

The last number played by the rice paddy ranger that evening was "It's A Great Day" by Dave Barber. Then the station packed up and hit the road. Three days later the ranger resumed his nightly tune-fests from another Korean town behind the lines. It takes more than a withdrawal to push him off the air.

Investigate Reports Radio-Active Snow Fell In New England

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The New York operations office of the U. S. atomic energy commission announced today it is investigating reports that snow that fell in Rochester, N. Y., was "measurably radio-active."

There was no indication, the AEC said, of any possibility of harm to humans or animals in the area.

The AEC said its investigation is "incident to" test atomic explosions at the commission's proving grounds in Nevada.

Today's statement said in this connection that radiological safety conditions related to such tests as those now under way in Nevada "have been carefully reviewed by authorities in that field."

CLAIMS DECLINE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The State Unemployment Compensation Bureau reported today claims for jobless benefits continued to decline in the week ended January 28.

'OKIE' PARENTS DENY 'PAWNING' DAUGHTER

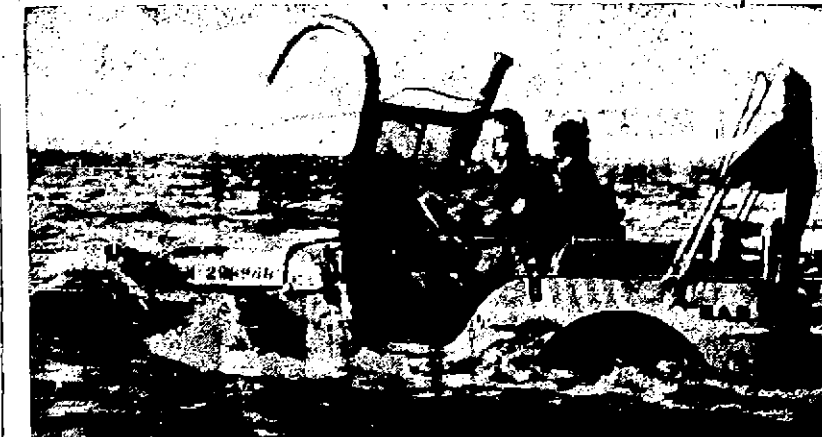

ACCUSED OF "PAWNING" their sad-eyed, 11-year-old daughter Shirley Ann O'Brien to a Los Angeles service station owner for $5 and a tank of gasoline, her "Okie" parents are located in a cheap San Francisco hotel at Welfare department expense. Shirley Ann's parents, William J. O'Brien, 56, and his wife Mary, 34, are pictured in the hotel with their four other children (from left), Daniel Lee, 4; David Patrick, 6; Judy Ann, 2, and James William, 8. The father, who took his family across the continent in a battered jalopy last year, angrily denied Shirley's "pawning" story and demanded her return when informed she might be adopted by the service station owner, Cecil Glover, and his wife. U.N. TROOPS ARE MAKING PROGRESS

United Nations troops, cranked out of commitment by two Chinese regiments.

The enemy trap, sprung ten miles northeast of Yonju on the eastern edge of the western front, was shattered late Thursday following more than 12 hours of bloody fighting, much of it hand-to-hand.

North Korean Communist soldiers were thrown into action in the west sector below Seoul, apparently to plug up gaping holes torn in the Chinese ranks by massive UN artillery and air strikes as well as tank and small arms fire.

A disparity of uniforms among the enemy indicated that North Korean units are operating in the same sector with Chinese units, whereas they operated independently in this area before, a front-line briefing official said.

In the center of the 40-mile-wide western front, Coniff reported, one group of 350 Reds tried to launch a counter-attack in a dense fog early Friday.

The fog suddenly lifted, the dispatch related, "exposing the enemy in the open directly in front of UN positions," then "mass artillery and intense machine gun fire hit the enemy with devastating results."

Coniff said a high-ranking officer flew over the area later and described the results of the UN fire as "excellent," saying: "There were bodies lying all over the place."

Along the west flank of the nine-year-old offensive, in which more than 8,000 Reds were killed or wounded during the first week, Turkish troops seized additional heights Friday morning against opposition. Later, however, these Eighth Army units ran into some Red mortar and small arms fire.

Eight miles northeast of Suwon, Puerto Rican troops put to rout an enemy force which engaged the Allied units in brief hand-to-hand combat.

In driving through and to the north of Anyang, the U. S. Eighth Army tank-infantry-artillery teams overran a junction straddling Korea's main rail-highway route running to and beyond Seoul.

Anyang lies 13 miles east-southeast of Seoul's shell and bomb battered port of Incheon and eight miles south-southeast of Yong-dungpo, an industrial suburb in the southwest outskirts of the South Korean capital.

Coniff's dispatch said one Chinese and one North Korean captured Friday below Seoul turned out to be suffering from typhus, tending to confirm earlier reports of an outbreak of the dread disease in the enemy ranks.

Leave Many Dead

From the central front, INS War Correspondent Robert Shukne reported that the surviving remnants of "at least" two Chinese regiments "limped north from the Sinchon (railroad) tunnel area," 35 miles east-southeast of Seoul.

The dispatch said the retreating Chinese left "stacks of their dead around a French-American regimental combat team they had surrounded but could not conquer."

MARION, O.—Buremen had to chomp a hole in the roof of the American Malleable Casting Co. to reach a bird's nest which had been ignited by sparks from a furnace. The only loss was a demolished nest and damage caused by firemen to the roof.

Latest Atomic Test Explosion Is 'Largest Yet'

INS.—A test atomic explosion, described as "the largest yet," rocked southern Nevada today and blazed with a flash of light visible in the predawn sky hundreds of miles away.

Las Vegas police and other observers agreed that the explosion was "the largest of four atomic bursts staged in seven days at the government's huge proving ground northwest of Las Vegas."

A large plate glass window at a store in downtown Las Vegas was shattered by the blast and burglar alarms all over the city were set off.

The brilliant white flash of light was shot into the skies at 8:49 a. m. EST just before dawn. The light deepened to an orange color before fading. Six distinct shock waves hit Las Vegas six minutes later beginning at 8:55 a. m.

The light was visible in Los Angeles 400 miles away.

Leo F. Gerber of Harrisburg, executive director of the Pennsylvania division, was here to tell of the latest information on the crusade.

Mrs. Blakk Waldo, county unit chairman, and Edwin O. Foss of the cancer board of directors, will serve as co-chairmen of the crusade.

The meeting was conducted on an informal discussion basis.

Thousands Of Commuters Are Left Stranded

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Thousands of New York and New Jersey commuters were stranded today as the strike of trainmen and switchmen made further intrusions into rail operations.

The New York Central Railroad announced that all trains on its Harlem Division have been suspended. Some 30,000 commuters were affected.

The commuter line runs to Westchester County and also to Chatham to the north from Grand Central Station in Manhattan.

The Pennsylvania Railroad announced that "one half" of its commuter trains from New York to the North Jersey Coast and main line points have been suspended. "Trainmen and switchmen reported sick."

The Pennsylvania said a total of 34 trains were cancelled and that all freight activity in the New York area has been halted.

The main post office in New York handles 120,000 parcel post packages every day.

Investigate Reports Radio-Active Snow Fell In New England

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The New York operations office of the U. S. atomic energy commission announced today it is investigating reports that snow that fell in Rochester, N. Y., was "measurably radio-active."

There was no indication, the AEC said, of any possibility of harm to humans or animals in the area.

The AEC said its investigation is "incident to" test atomic explosions at the commission's proving grounds in Nevada.

Today's statement said in this connection that radiological safety conditions related to such tests as those now under way in Nevada "have been carefully reviewed by authorities in that field."

'OKIE' PARENTS DENY 'PAWNING' DAUGHTER

ACCUSED OF "PAWNING" their sad-eyed, 11-year-old daughter Shirley Ann O'Brien to a Los Angeles service station owner for $5 and a tank of gasoline, her "Okie" parents are located in a cheap San Francisco hotel at Welfare department expense. Shirley Ann's parents, William J. O'Brien, 36, and his wife Mary, 34, are pictured in the hotel with their four other children (from left), Daniel Lee, 4; David Patrick, 6; Judy Ann, 2, and James William, 8. The father, who took his family across the continent in a battered jalopy last year, angrily denied Shirley's "pawning" story and demanded her return when informed she might be adopted by the service station owner, Cecil Glover, and his wife. U.N. TROOPS ARE MAKING PROGRESS uma, crunched out of encirclement by two Chinese regiments. The enemy trap, sprung ten miles northeast of Yosu on the eastern edge of the western front, was shattered late Thursday following more than 12 hours of sanguinary fighting, much of it hand to hand.

North Korean Communist soldiers were thrown into action in the west sector below Seoul, apparently to plug up gaping holes torn in the Chinese ranks by massive UN artillery and air strikes as well as tank and small arms fire.

A disparity of uniforms among the enemy indicated that "North Korean units are operating in the same sector with Chinese units, whereas they operated independently in this area before," a front-line briefing officer said.

In the center of the 40-mile-wide western front, Conniff reported, one group of 350 Reds tried to launch a counter-attack in a dense fog early Friday.

Devastating Results
The fog suddenly lifted, the dispatch related, "exposing the enemy in the open directly in front of UN positions," then "mass artillery and intense machine gun fire hit the enemy with devastating results."

Conniff said a high-ranking officer flew over the area later and described the results of the UN fire as "excellent," saying, "There were bodies lying all over the place."

Along the west flank of the nine-year-old offensive, in which more than 8,000 Reds were killed or wounded during the first week, Turkish troops seized additional heights Friday morning against no opposition. Later, however, these Eighth Army units ran into some Red mortar and small arms fire.

Eight miles northeast of Suwon, Puerto Rican troops put to rout an enemy force which engaged the Allied units in brief hand-to-hand combat.

In driving through and to the north of Anyang, the U. S. Eighth Army tank-infantry-artillery teams overran a junction straddling Korea's main rail-highway route running to and beyond Seoul.

Anyang lies 13 miles east-southeast of Seoul's shell and bomb battered port of Incheon and eight miles south-southeast of Yongsungpo, an industrial suburb in the southwest outskirts of the South Korean capital.

Conniff's dispatch said one Chinese and one North Korean captured Friday below Seoul turned out to be suffering from typhus, tending to confirm earlier reports of an outbreak of the dread disease in the enemy ranks.

Leave Many Dead
From the central front, INS War Correspondent Robert Shakne reported that the surviving remnants of "at least" two Chinese regiments "limped north from the Sinchon (railroad) tunnel area," 35 miles east-southeast of Seoul.

The dispatch said the retreating Chinese left "stacks of their dead around a French-American regimental combat team they had surrounded but could not conquer."

Latest Atomic Test Explosion Is 'Largest Yet'

(BULLETIN)
LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 2.—(INS)—A test atomic explosion, described as "the largest yet," rocked southern Nevada today and blazed with a flash of light visible in the predawn sky hundreds of miles away.

Las Vegas police and other observers agreed that the explosion was the largest of four atomic bursts staged in seven days at the government's huge proving ground northwest of Las Vegas.

A large plate glass window at a store in downtown Las Vegas was shattered by the blast and burglar alarms all over the city were set off.

The brilliant white flash of light was shot into the skies at 8:49 a. m. EST just before dawn. The light deepened to an orange color before fading. Six distinct shock waves hit Las Vegas six minutes later beginning at 8:55 a. m.

The light was visible in Los Angeles 400 miles away.

Leo F. Gerber of Harrisburg, executive director of the Pennsylvania division, was here to tell of the latest information on the crusade.

Mrs. Blake Waldo, county unit chairman, and Edwin O. Feass of the cancer board of directors, will serve as co-chairmen of the crusade.

The meeting was conducted on an informal discussion basis.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Thousands of New York and New Jersey commuters were stranded today as the strike of trainmen and switchmen made further inroads into rail operations.

The New York Central Railroad announced that all trains on its Harlem Division have been suspended. Some 30,000 commuters were affected.

The commuter line runs to Westchester County and also to Chatham to the north from Grand Central Station in Manhattan.

The Pennsylvania Railroad announced that "one half" of its commuter trains from New York to the North Jersey Coast and main line points have been suspended because "trainmen and switchmen reported sick."

The Pennsylvania said a total of 34 trains were cancelled and that all freight activity in the New York area has been halted.

The main post office in New York handles 120,000 parcel post packages every day.

State Department Against Invasion Of China Mainland

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The state department remains convinced today that Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa should not be used for an invasion of the communist-held mainland.

The department listed its reasons for the belief in a letter from assistant secretary of state Jack E. McFall to Rep. Scofield Brown (R) Conn. The congressman had asked for information about the U. S. position in regard to Chiang Kai-shek's troops.

McFall said that Chinese communists outnumber the Nationalists 8 to 1 and, despite large troop commitments in Korea, the Reds retain a formidable force along the China coast.

Moreover, he said, the principal mission of Chiang Kai-shek's forces is the defense of Formosa. This purpose, he added, will "increase in the weeks to come" as better weather enhances the possibility of a communist attack.

McFall pointed out that the Korean war is a United Nations operation and the participation of Nationalist China must be determined by other countries.

The official conceded that the military training of Chinese Nationalists is "proceeding in a creditable manner," but he emphasized that American supplies are limited "by urgent demands from many quarters."

Reach Settlement In Jersey Strike

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 2.—(INS)—AFL bus drivers and maintenance men early today reached a settlement on ending a New Jersey-wide transportation strike.

The strike, which cut off the transport of 1,600,000 persons, began at one minute after midnight yesterday.

The agreement with the Public Service Coordinated Transport System was reached in a marathon session with state mediators in Newark.

Spokesmen for the union said it provided for 11 cents an hour wage increase and minimum pensions of $720 a year.

The 6,500 strikers were called to local meetings this forenoon to vote on ratifying the settlement.

Trips To Austria Curbed By Army

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Army imposed restrictions on the movement of military dependents to Austria.

Officials said the action resulted from a shortage of housing in Austria, and emphasized that there was no present plan to stop movement of military families to Europe.

Under the new system, movement of families to Austria will be by a priority waiting list similar to those already set up for Alaska, the Philippine Islands and Guam.

Movement of dependents to Japan and other Far Eastern areas was halted after the outbreak of the Korean War.

Lie Begins New Term As Secretary Of United Nations

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 2.—(INS)—Secretary General Trygve Lie began a new three-year term at the United Nations today.

His first problem is a threatened Soviet blockade.

The Russians, who opposed his re-election, threatened that if the Norwegian was returned to the post they would refrain from "dealings" with him.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky put it this way: "If Lie is appointed secretary-general of the U. N. for any supplementary period whatsoever, the government of the Soviet Union will have no dealings with him, and will refuse to regard him as the secretary-general."

CONTROLLED VENTILATION OF DAIRY STABLES URGED

Electric fan ventilating systems in dairy stables are urged by extension agricultural engineers of the Pennsylvania State college.

Some dairy stables already have such installations. Why?

Research and practical experience have shown that cows are more comfortable, are healthier, and produce better in well-ventilated barns.

Cows give off heat and moisture and unless these conditions are corrected in controlled ventilation the stable air soon becomes warm and saturated.

A cow produces about as much heat as an electric iron or a chick brooder, and every 24 hours gives off five to six quarts of water, mostly as vapor.

Ventilating the stable by opening windows, doors and silo chutes may create harmful drafts on the cows.

Fans are not expensive and are easy to install. They require little maintenance and give forced air circulation. They bring in fresh, clean air from the outside, promote air movement in all areas of the barn without drafts, and remove stale, damp inside air.

Proper sized fans provide 200 cubic feet of air per minute for each 1,000 pounds of animal weight. This is adequate for warm days. In cold weather operation of the fan be throttled by thermostat to reduce the air flow.

By reducing odors and dust, forced ventilation helps guard milk quality. It protects barn timbers and equipment against rot and rust, and automatic control saves labor. Working conditions for the farmer are more pleasant, and the improved environment for the cows guard their health and increases milk production.

Dairy stable fans and their proper installation and operation are described in a new extension circular, "An Electric Fan Ventilation System for Dairy Stables". A copy of this publication may be secured from the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension office, 236 Post Office building, New Castle.

Rev. Merle Silvis, who is pastor of the First Methodist church of Trafford, Pa., of the Pittsburgh Conference, will be the guest speaker throughout the week. Rev. Silvis is the son of Rev. Harry A. Silvis, pastor of Volant-White Chapel churches. White Chapel church will participate in the evangelistic services, therefore no service will be held in the White Chapel on February 4, as the congregation will worship in the Volant Methodist church.

Special committees have been named for visitation and each evening next week a dinner will be served in the church for the pastors and workers.

Report Red Cross Nutrition Service Activities For 1950

In conjunction with the national Red Cross "Mobilize for Defense" program, the local Lawrence county Red Cross chapter will once again undertake an extensive nutrition service for 1951.

Mrs. William L. Cosel, chairman of the Lawrence County Nutrition Service for 1950, has reported on the activities of the organization for the past year.

During 1950 the nutrition service conducted a 16-hour nutrition class which included 12 members, secured trained dietitians for consultations on special diets in cases referred to the committee, set up a canteen course available at the call of the canteen committee, distributed approximately 200 pieces of literature dealing with good nutrition habits, reducing and gaining diets, and proper cooking methods to preserve food values, cooperated with the home service an disaster committees and also with the council of home economics women.

This year the local chapter will cooperate with the civil defense authorities and related community groups in their mass feeding projects.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 — Tony Martin comes into his own in RKO-Radio's big musical, "Two Tickets to Broadway," what with four leading ladies, a raft of new songs and a pending tour of the army camps with his missus.

The singer is frolicking in the musical with Janet Leigh, Ann Miller, Barbara Lawrence and Gloria DeHaven at the studio where he first got his start with a small part in "Follow the Fleet" 15 years before.

Oil and Squaws

They are filming the last big production number in the picture under Dance Director Busby Berkeley's watchful eye. It is an Indian number which depicts Tony striking oil on his property and gifting his bevy of gold-digging squaws with diamonds, furs and what-nots.

Tony, in a get-up consisting of gold arm bands on his green-striped shirt, sings about how rich he is while the Leigh-Miller-Lawrence-DeHaven combine is right at his heels.

Between scenes Martin confides that he and Cyd Charisse and maybe some of his GI buddies from the China-India-Burma theater of World War II are leaving on an entertainment tour of domestic army camps.

Tony will sing and his wife, shapely Cyd Charisse, will dance. They hope to line up several of Tony's GI friends to go along too.

Eager for Tour

"The tour is something I have been wanting to do for some time," says Tony. "But something always came up to prevent it. Two years ago I appeared at bases and stations in Germany and it was such a gratifying feeling that I wanted to visit the boys in the U. S."

"A person feels cleaner after doing a little something for the men in uniform."

Following the tour the singer goes into "The U.S.O. Story" in which he will star in the role originally set for the late Al Jolson. The story was revamped for Martin and it will get underway in March with a big lineup of entertainers who visited GI throughout the world during World War II.

Fire Damage In January Is Light

January's fire loss was extremely light, amounting to but 7,255, Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reported today.

A total of 45 alarms were answered, of which 24 were still alarms, two were false, six were for auto fires and three for grass and bonfires.

Damage to buildings amounted to $4,850, to contents, $2,380, and to autos involved in fires, $25.

For these fires, 7,000 feet of two and a half-inch hose and 1-700 feet of inch and a half hose were used. The valuation of buildings and contents involved was $214,000.

More than 16,000,000 women are employed in the United States.

Small Supply Of Ashes Received

Street Commissioner Joe O'Leary stated today that throughout the past 24 hours the city had been able to procure a small supply of ashes which it is hoped will prove sufficient until a carload, promised the city arrives, to put on slippery streets.

Bus Skids, Breaks Craig Street Sign

Vincent Dorsey, Shenango Valley bus operator, operated a bus south on North Jefferson street last night which because of the slippery condition of the hill slid over the curb and broke off a street sign at Craig street.

While quality chicks may cost a few cents more than ordinary chicks, it doesn't cost any more to feed and care for a bunch of pullets with the inherited ability to lay 250 eggs a year, than it does a flock that is bred to lay only 180 eggs. It really pays to look into the background of the chicks you buy, whenever possible.

Cinder Crews Want No Part Of 'Old-Fashioned Winters'

Who said, "Give me the old fashioned winter?"

Wear, exhausted highway maintenance crews are wondering about that very thing, as the local district experiences one of the worst winters recorded in the memories of older residents of Lawrence county.

Having gone through two comparatively mild winters, employees of the local state highway department were settled down for their proverbial "winter's nap" when all of a sudden 36 or more inches of snow were unloaded on a county, which was said to be just below the snow belt. What they said, couldn't happen here, did that very thing, and men, machinery and money were employed to dig out the district.

The herculean task was hardly completed and the machinery oiled up for a rest, when more snow fell, and more and more until hardly a day has passed by since November 25 that but what snow has fallen or driving and walking has been extremely difficult.

Several Thousand Hours

County Superintendent Alfred A. Martin, has hardly had time to sit down and figure out how many man hours have gone into the task of making county highways safe for travel, but several thousand hours have gone into the effort thus far and many more hundreds of hours will be consumed if this sort of weather insists on hanging around.

The cost for snow removal in Lawrence county alone, would reach a staggering figure, enough to build several good secondary roads it is learned. The budget for the winter's snow removal which was compiled last summer left very little margin for such a rough season and funds will of necessity be taken from other projects to meet this need.

Literally Exhausted

"Workmen of the department are literally exhausted," Mr. Martin told a reporter, "due to the fact that many of them have had such little rest, having to go out at unearthly hours to look over the roads and determine whether the need for cinder crews or plows has arisen and then get men into action. At one time every available department employee was on the job, those who were assigned other work, being called into action to relieve the overburdened regular crews."

Radio, which was installed in the departments equipment a short while before the big November snow, played a big part this year in expediting equipment to trouble scenes and getting highways open in short order. The radio receiving and sending sets are soon to be put in all the larger pieces of equipment when time permits. Highway workmen have changed the old saying, "Into every life some rain must fall," to "Onto every cinder crew man's road, some snow must fall, but please, don't let us have it all."

At any rate, through experience, men and machinery are on guard, ready to get into action when the call comes as public servants, hoping that through their efforts many lives will be saved and accidents will be kept at a minimum.

Coal Miners Get $20 Assessment

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—(INS)—District coal miners had the bad along with the good news today—they received notice of a $20 assessment along with the $1.60 daily pay raise won for them by John L. Lewis.

The assessment, to be collected at the rate of $5 every two weeks over the next two months from the nation's 478,000 diggers, is expected to raise some $9,500,000 for the union treasury.

The assessment order, sent out from United Mine Worker headquarters in Washington Wednesday, read in part: "Your organization is compelled to build up financial bulwarks to ward off onslaughts of our adversaries."

The wage increase for 400,000 bituminous and 78,000 hard coal miners was approved Wednesday by the Wage Stabilization Board. The producers are still awaiting word on whether they will be permitted to increase prices.

Although most European countries have too many applicants for immigration to the United States, Sweden's quota remains unfilled year after year.

LADIES' GUILD MEETING

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Chas. Gruenewald received members of the Ladies Guild from St. James church in her home. For the program Father Kane spoke briefly and an open discussion followed on "What do you want to know about Lent?" Mrs. Clarence Campbell, Guild president, called the business meeting to order. The chairman of various committees announced their respective committees. Plans were made for a Pre-Lent party to be held at Hamrock hall on Sunday afternoon and evening, Feb. 4. The hours will be from 2-4 in the afternoon and 8-10 in the evening.

Mrs. Delphord Crespi with her ways and means committee are in charge of completing the arrangements. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Artheu Venditti and her social committee.

Mass Slayer Must Stand Trial In Four Additional Murders

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 2.—(INS)

Ernest Ingenito, sentenced to life imprisonment for killing his mother-in-law, will be ordered to stand trial for slaying four other in-laws near Vineland last Nov. 17.

The announcement was made by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, who explained this will be the policy for county prosecutors to follow in all mass murder cases in New Jersey.

The Ingenito rampage was the second in the area in little more than a year. It followed the mass slaying of 13 persons by Howard Unruh, now confined to a state mental institution.

Ingenito was tried only for the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Pearl Mazzoli, 41. He was found guilty although the jury recommended mercy, mandating a life sentence under New Jersey law.

Ingenito would be eligible to apply for release in 15 years under this sentence, but it was pointed out the state would still have detainers against him for the other four killings.

The governor directed Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons to take steps for seeing that Ingenito does not escape prosecution on four outstanding murder indictments.

Parsons notified E. Milton Hannold, who prosecuted Ingenito, that his office desires further prosecution so that Ingenito "may receive proper punishment for a mass killing as he perpetrated."

Parsons said:

"In view of the evidence that you have presented that the defendant was sane, the recommendation of the jury in this case may well result in a contempt of our criminal laws and the penalties provided in our statutes of violations."

Cinder Crews Want No Part Of 'Old-Fashioned Winters'

Who said, "Give me the old-fashioned winter?" The weary, exhausted highway maintenance crews are wondering about that very thing, as the local district experiences one of the worst winters recorded in the memories of older residents of Lawrence county.

Having gone through two comparatively mild winters, employees of the local state highway department were settled down for their proverbial "winter's nap" when all of a sudden 36 or more inches of snow were unloaded on a county, which was said to be just below the snow belt. What they said, couldn't happen here, did. That very thing, and men, machinery and money were employed to dig out the district.

The Herculean task was hardly completed and the machinery oiled up for a rest, when more snow fell, and more and more until hardly a day has passed by since November 25 that but what snow has fallen or driving and walking has been extremely difficult.

Coal Miners Get $20 Assessment

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—(INS)—District coal miners had the bad news today when they received notice of a $20 assessment along with the $1.60 daily pay raise won for them by John L. Lewis.

The assessment, to be collected at the rate of $5 every two weeks over the next two months from the miners' 470,000 diggers, is expected to raise some $9,500,000 for the union treasury.

The assessment order, sent out from United Mine Workers headquarters in Washington Wednesday, read in part:

Your organization is compelled to build up financial bulwarks to ward off onslaughts of our adversaries.

The wage increase for 400,000 bituminous and 70,000 hard coal miners was approved Wednesday by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Although most European countries have too many applicants for immigration to the United States, Sweden's quota remains unfilled year after year.

Mass Slayer Must Stand Trial In Four Additional Murders

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 2.—(INS)

Ernest Ingenito, sentenced to life imprisonment for killing his mother-in-law, will be ordered to stand trial for slaying four other in-laws near Vineland last Nov. 17.

The announcement was made by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, who explained this will be the policy for county prosecutors to follow in all mass-murder cases in New Jersey.

The Ingenito rampage was the second in the area in little more than a year. It followed the mass slaying of 12 persons by Howard Unruh, now confined to a state mental institution.

Ingenito was tried only for the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Pearl Mazzoli, 41. He was found guilty although the jury recommended mercy, mandating a life sentence under New Jersey law.

Ingenito would be eligible to apply for release in 15 years under this sentence, but it was pointed out the state would still have detainers against him for the other four killings.

The governor directed Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons to take steps for seeing that Ingenito does not escape prosecution on four outstanding murder indictments.

Parsons notified E. Milton Hanford, who prosecuted Ingenito, that his office desires further prosecution so that Ingenito "may receive proper punishment for a mass killing as he perpetrated."

Parsons said:

"In view of the evidence that you have presented that the defendant was sane, the recommendation of the jury in this case may well result in a contempt of our criminal laws and the penalties provided in our statutes of violations."

Varied Experiences Lot Of Engineers In War

By FRANK CONNIF
(U. S. War Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES
NORTH OF SUWON, Feb. 2.—Captain Joe Sweely, a compact, sandy-thatched combat engineer, stood on the edge of the Suwon airstrip watching a group of his men shove railroad ties under the engine of a captured C-48.

Now and then, he gave an order crisp with authority despite the mildness of its tone. The plane had hit a pothole in its landing run and lost a wheel in the process. Foot by foot, the railroad ties were raising it to a level where a new wheel could be adjusted.

This was practically a day off for Captain Sweely and his men. For the past few months, their life had been a nightmare of blown bridges detonated on the heels of the withdrawing army. Time and again they completed the dirty missions with the onrushing enemy breathing down their sweaty necks.

Must Rebuild Spans
Now the command was forward and Captain Sweely's engineers faced the prospect of rebuilding the very spans they had demolished a short time before.

The wing-hoisting chore was just one of the many side assignments the army delegates to the engineers.

"First we build the bridges," said Captain Sweely. "Then we blow them up. Then we build them again. It doesn't make sense, but that's war, I guess."

Nothing so poignantly contrasts the utter waste of war and the excess of human effort consumed than by the day by day toll of the combat engineers. Builders one day, they are the architects of disaster on the morrow. Their lives are haunted by the aura of doom. And yet they are the men tapped by the army to salvage coherence out of chaos in the wake of war's destruction.

Serve As Infantrymen

And sometimes they are asked to check their tools and step in as infantrymen. Captain Sweely's company of engineers fought as foot-loggers for 30 bitter days last year. It's another memory of a discouraging campaign that kindles no nostalgia.

"Being the last people out of a town isn't so bad," said Captain Sweely. "The infantrymen are the guys who have it bad. We found that out in the line last year."

The technique of withdrawal places a severe responsibility on the men who must make certain that the last U. S. soldier has been evacuated. Close liaison must be maintained between the combat units and the engineers entrusted with blowing the bridges behind them, once the span has been toppled there is no exit remaining for anyone stranded on the far side of the stream.

The engineers are technically free to pull the string when they receive a pre-arranged signal that the last men have crossed. Usually someone from the withdrawing unit carries the message that his vehicle closes up the departing column. But men like Captain Sweely have found through experience that a few stragglers are still to come.

Plead Guilty To Conspiracy In G.I. School Move

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Thirty veterans who have enrolled in a New York beauty culture school under the G. I. Bill of Rights, have pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to defraud the Veterans Administration of $250,000.

The ex-G.I.s were the first of 199 former service men to be indicted for allegedly receiving about $1,000 each illegally in subsistence money, the Grow System Beauty school in mid-Manhattan, also have been indicted.

The other accused men are to be arraigned next week. No date was set for sentencing the 30 who pleaded guilty, pending the completion of arraignment.

The government charges the school got $66,000 in tuition fees from the veterans, but most of them never attended classes. In addition, the government says the ex-G.I.s "kicked back" part of their subsistence to the school's owners. Lawyers for the men pleading guilty indicated they will seek leniency by making restitution of the money.

The men were released in their own custody after being fingerprinted at the U. S. Marshall's office.

Make Objection To Plans For Plant

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Sen. Jenner (R) Ind., declared today that it would be "inexcusable" of the government to turn the Lustron prefabricated house plant in Columbus, Ohio, over to the Navy for airplane assembly.

Jenner said that the plant can be much more effectively used to produce houses and cited the investigation of Air Base, Texas, as evidence of the need.

The senator called the Lustron conversion, which he said has been recommended by National Production Authority Chief William H. Harrison, "the latest instance of the Truman gang's waste and inefficiency."

He said that the North American Aviation company, which would use the plant, does not even hope to be in production for 18 to 24 months, and commented: "It is almost impossible to imagine the stupidity of a proposal to waste this floor space when it cannot possibly be put in use for approximately 18 months."

insisted today on continuance of her divorce proceedings against her wealthy Swedish-born husband despite his purported offer of a new mink coat, a Cadillac and diamonds.

Elizabeth H. Berggren told Judge John A. Cornell in Bridgeport superior court that when she refused to abandon her fight for marital freedom the New York inventor and scientist said he would fix his financial affairs so she could receive nothing as alimony or for support.

Mrs. Berggren, 43, told the court that the goateed Dr. Berggren had kicked and beaten her at their New York apartment.

Dr. Berggren, who said he invented three dimensional motion pictures and is now engaged in development of a special television lens, denied her charges.

On the contrary, said the 63-year-old inventor, his wife once severely bit his finger and on another occasion broke his finger with her shoe, ripped his shirt and scratched his body with her fingernails.

Judge Cornell continued the hearing until next Tuesday.

'Sick' Strike On Railroads Hits New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The spreading "sick" strike of railway switchmen had a serious impact on New York today as its two largest railroads cancelled numerous long haul trains and drastically curtailed commuter service.

The strike also resulted in the layoffs of thousands of coal, steel and other New York area workers. Many homes faced possible heatless days if the strike continues.

New York Central completely shut down one of its three big commuter sections, the Harlem division serving Westchester county points.

Drastic Curtailment
Pennsylvania railroad announced an even more drastic service curtailment, cutting off 50 per cent of its commuter trains. Service on other lines feeding New York—the Lehigh Valley, New York, New Haven and Hartford, and the Long Island—was far from normal.

In addition, rail connections to the rest of the nation dwindled rapidly as hundreds of railmen reported they were "too sick" to work. Major long distance trains from New York to the west and south were cancelled.

The walkout spread hourly. Freight operations were sharply curtailed as the day progressed. Earlier, the government slapped a partial embargo on mail.

The Lehigh Valley halted operations of all commuter trains for New Jersey and Pennsylvania points. The New Haven ran trains with fewer cars and they were packed.

The New York Central Harlem Division shutdown halted all rail service for residents of Pawling, Brewster, Mt. Vernon, Bronxville, White Plains, Fleetwood, Tuckahoe and other communities.

Integration Of Soil Erosion Work Is Urged

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Integration of the work of co-operating agencies battling soil erosion has been called for by Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College.

He told representatives of the state soil conservation commission yesterday the close cooperation between its officers and those of the U. S. soil conservation service and the college's extension service would be beneficial to all farmers participating in the program.

The three agencies have joined in combating soil erosion and Eisenhower said efforts should be made to have all participants understand the objectives of the program.

Twenty-seven of Pennsylvania's 67 counties operate as soil conservation districts while the 28th, Perry County, is completing its organization.

Eisenhower Says More U.S. Troops Needed In Europe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Gen. Eisenhower told house military and foreign affairs leaders today that transfer of "some additional units" of American forces to Europe will be essential and one sent now is as good as "two or three sent later."

The European defense commander testified behind closed doors on Capitol Hill for the second successive day preliminary to reporting by radio and television to the nation at 10:45 EST tonight.

The general also met with the senate armed services committee, reportedly to discuss the proposed draft of 18-year-olds.

Just Like a Fish

AT A SCHOOL where great swimmers are an annual development, Ohio State comes up with what may be the greatest swimming prospect in its history. The hero of the story is Dick Cleveland, Hawaiian-born and a freshman Coach Mike Peppe already says that Dick is the "greatest swimmer in competition today." A sprinter, Dick already has clocked off a .49.8 century, just one-tenth of a second over Alan Ford's phenomenal record. (International)

No Stealing Bases On Deputy Westrum

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 2.—(INS)—National league base stealers next season will do so at their own risk.

Wes Westrum, New York Giants' catcher, has been named a Dutchess county deputy sheriff. According to Sheriff C. Fred Close, Westrum will work on a full time basis after the baseball season ends.

Shenango Host To Wampum Hi

Bessemer Scheduled At New Wilmington

Shenango entertains Wampum, New Wilmington plays host to Bessemer, and East Brook rolls out the carpet for Union tonight in Section 23 basketball games.

Wampum (6-0) and Bessemer (6-1) will strive to keep one-two in the league race, but face tough jobs on away floors.

East Brook (4-3) will seek to keep its mathematical chances of the league title alive when it meets Union. The Scotties looked very good against New Wilmington Tuesday and East Brook is expecting no easy time of it as it had the last time the teams met.

Whether or not Clyde Cummins will be back in action for East Brook is not known. Mt. Jackson is idle tonight.

'Ref' Refuses To Work Game

Mihalic Turns Duesque Down

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Zigmund Mihalic, a basketball official of Ford City, Pa., has withdrawn from an assignment as a referee in a basketball game between Duquesne and Loyola of Chicago at the Gardens in Pittsburgh next Monday night.

The reason, apparently, was abuse from the crowd and criticism of coaches following a game at the Gardens last Monday in which Villanova defeated Duquesne 68-65.

Graham Assigned David Fawcett, commissioner for appointment of officials in the western Pennsylvania district, said: "Red (Mihalic) told my secretary that he has become jittery. That he can't eat or sleep and that it just isn't worth it to officiate at the Gardens."

Mihalic will be replaced by Art Graham, former Geneva college athlete, who has worked several games at the Gardens this season.

Umpires Will Convene At Y

President Albert "Jabby" Conti has called for a special meeting of the Lawrence County Umpires association for 8:30 o'clock at the Y tonight for the purpose of electing 1951 officers and discussing the coming baseball season.

Hanks And Farrell Game Called Off

The scheduled game for the Hanks last night against the Farrell CIO was called off due to slippery highway conditions. It was announced by Coach Al Gonet. The Hanks are preparing to battle the K. Pulaskis in a heated series of games.

The Athletics have scheduled 33 night games in 1951 at Shibe Park, including 12 week-ends in addition to two holidays—July 4 against the Red Sox of Boston and Labor Day against the Yankees.

Donald "Bucky" Tate, tackle on New Castle high school's Red Hurricane football team for the past three years, has added another honor to the long list that has been accorded him for his football prowess.

Don has been named to the second team of the fourth annual National High School All-Stars, selected by the Wigan-Wiseman of America of Oklahoma City. Oklahoma. The Wisemen is an organization formed for the purpose of selecting the All-American high school teams.

Opinions of coaches, officials, athletic directors, newspaper writers and radio broadcasters from all over the country helped in charting the 1950 squad.

Fifteen hundred and forty-five football players from every section of the United States and Hawaii were nominated for places on the team. Only three players from Pennsylvania made the first seven teams.

Glock On First Howard Glock, tackle of Carrick high school in Pittsburgh, who played against New Castle for the past two years, was named on the first team. Tate was named on the second and Charles Suchan of Phoenixville was named to the seventh.

Among those receiving honorable mention were Francis Glamp of Latrobe, Rudy Mattioli of Har-Braek and Rich Billingslea of Alliquippa.

Besides this latest honor, Tate has received these other awards: Lineman of the year in Pennsylvania in 1949, All-State first team in 1949, All-State first team in 1950, All-WPIAL first team in 1950, All-American mention in 1949.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

WALTER BROWN, president of the Boston marathon, has banned eight South Koreans from the annual Boston marathon. A dispatch from Korea said the men were given permission by the South Korean government to train. Brown upon learning this, remarked: "Our fellows are over there fighting and dying to keep their country alive. Why should we accept their entries when they should stay at home and fight themselves. All our athletes are being drafted to go 10,000 miles to fight in Korea, yet they have the colossal nerve to announce they are training to run in our marathon. As long as our boys are fighting and dying in Korea, I'll not permit Koreans to run in the marathon. It would be mockery," Brown concluded. . . . Southpaw Lou Brissie has returned his signed contract to Manager a relief hurler. So far 19 of 38 Athletics have returned their signed contracts. Television cut in on the Ike Williams-Vic Cardell fight which Williams won in Detroit on a technical knockout. Countless fans saw the fight televised but only 2,603 paid at the gate, which is a poor attendance at a fight where a champion is involved. . . . The Phils came up today with another bonus-baby, 21-year-old Ben Tompkins, an infielder plucked from the University of Texas for an estimated $50,000 worth of persuasion. If Tompkins does not land in the army, he will report to the Phils' farm club at Wilmington, Del. Two months ago the Phils paid a reported $40,000 to another bonus-baby, Fordham's Tom Casagrande, a slugger and all-around athlete.

PFC. CURT SIMMONS, Phillies' fastball pitcher now in the U.S. Army, is Pennsylvania's 1950 athlete of the year. The southpaw flinger was given a plaque by Governor John S. Fine at the annual dinner of the Harrisburg sportswriters and sportscasters association which sponsors the award. . . . The dope is out that unless Chairman George Jones and John De Gross, both members of the State Boxing commission quit their barking at each other, Governor Fine will fire 'em. The name of John Holahan, general manager of the Pittsburgh Steelers, will be presented to the senate by Governor Fine Monday as the third commission member. He will succeed Bill Montgomery who was let go by Governor Duff because of politics months ago. . . . Lawton Carver of the I.N.S. predicts that Ray Robinson will defeat Jake LaMotta, thereby ascending to the middleweight throne which because of regulations will require Ray to give up his welterweight title. They are to fight in Chicago February 14. . . . This will result in a tournament to find his successor between Billy Graham, Charlie Fusari, Johnny Bratton and Kid Gavilan. . . . The featherweight title match (another one) between Willie Pep and Sandy Saddler, the current title-holder, will take place in March in New York. Saddler knocked out Pep in the first battle. Pep won back the title on a 15-round decision. In their third battle, Pep pleaded a dislocated shoulder midway through the fight, failed to finish and lost the title back to the Harlem fighter. . . . Jerry Coleman of the Yankees and Paul Trout of the Tigers will fly to Germany where they will assist in a baseball clinic for the G.I.'s. Jerry is a second baseman and Paul a flinger.

Knickerbockers Take Loop Lead

Warriors Bump Boston Celtics

(By International News Service)

The New York Knickerbockers beat the Syracuse Nationals, 93-90 last night and moved into first place of the N.B.A. eastern division.

Paced by Vince Boryla and Harry Gallatin, who netted 21 points apiece, the New Yorkers withstood a last minute rally by the Nats and walked off the floor with their fourth straight victory.

Elsewhere in the league, the Boston Celtics were dumped out of first place by the Philadelphia Warriors, 88-80, and tri-cities outlasted Fort Wayne, 109-102 in a free scoring contest.

A last-minute field goal by Bill Closs gave the Warriors their win over the Celtics in a double overtime basketball game at the arena. Joe Fulks was high for the Warriors with 19 points, but the Celtics' easy Ed Macauley topped them all with 26.

Little Big League Meeting Tonight

There will be a meeting of the Little League baseball organization tonight in the county commissioners' office in the court house, it is announced by Joseph F. Travers, president.

Further plans for the formation of the league will be discussed. All persons interested in this league for boys 8-12 are urged to attend the meeting.

Last week officers and directors were elected, plans were started for the incorporation of the group, and overall plans for the operation of the league were discussed.

New Castle Seeks Season Sweep Over Ambridge Floormen Tonight

New Castle and Ambridge, both out-distanced in the chase for the section III bunting, will fight it out tonight at the Bridger floor for league position. The Canes nailed the Bridgers at New Castle 47-34, and held a one game bulge in the section won and lost column. Ambridge has won two and dropped five, New Castle, three of seven. The Canes in 15 games for the season have won nine, Ambridge in 16 games has won but seven.

Coach Bob Palmer's league record is hardly indicative of the promise shown by the team before the season began. His squad is perhaps the tallest in the league and has returned three of last season's players, Jim Hill stands 6'5", and both Morans and Har-motta 6'3". Whitehair, Cheever and Johnson will also trouble New Castle. Johnson is a reserve find, who, when inserted into a varsity game for the first time at Sharon, rushed in seven field goals.

Point Average The Bridgers have tallied 318 points in seven league games, and average 45 points per game, while their opposition has piled up 352 points against them in league action, for a 50 point per game average.

If victory or defeat were to be figured on this basis tonight at Ambridge, the margin would be fractional. New Castle also owns an offensive average of 45 points per game for seven games, and their opposition has also run up a 50 point per game average. The Canes have tallied 332 points in league action, four more than Ambridge, and the enemy has tallied 356 times, four more than that of the Ambridge opposition.

The New Castle six game league statistics have revealed that the locals averaged 60 shots per game, and scored 28 per cent of the time. McKay leads the team in foul shooting, with 76 per cent and Hoek, runs second, with 71 per cent.

Ellwood is at Farrell tonight, and Sharon at Beaver Falls.

Turnesa Leads Tucson Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 2.—(INS)—Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., today paced winter circuit golfers into the second round of the $10,000 Tucson invitational.

The veteran pro found the flat, 6,402-yard El Rio course easy going in yesterday's opening session and grabbed a one-stroke lead with six-under-par 33-31-64.

Pressing Turnesa with 68s were Jack Burke, Jr., of Houston, Tex.; Ralph Blomquist of Glendale, Cal.; and Bob Watson of White Plains, N. Y.

Penn State wrestling teams won 114 meets while losing 37 and tying eight in 24 years under Charlie Spidel.

WALTER BROWN, president of the Boston marathon, has banned eight South Koreans from the annual Boston marathon. A dispatch from Korea said the men were given permission by the South Korean government to train. Brown upon learning this, remarked: "Our fellows are over there fighting and dying to keep their country alive. Why should we accept their entries when they should stay at home and fight themselves. All our athletes are being drafted to go 10,000 miles to fight in Korea, yet they have the colossal nerve to announce they are training to run in our marathon. As long as our boys are fighting and dying in Korea, I'll not permit Koreans to run in the marathon. It would be mockery," Brown concluded.

PFC. CURT SIMMONS, Phillies' fastball pitcher now in the U.S. Army, is Pennsylvania's 1950 athlete of the year. The southpaw flinger was given a plaque by Governor John S. Fine, at the annual dinner of the Harrisburg sportswriters and sportscasters association which sponsors the award.

National League Observing 75th Anniversary Of Founding Today

By PAT ROBINSON

(U. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The National League observes its seventy-fifth anniversary today and baseball men are hoping for a special "green light" birthday present from President Truman.

The senior league is holding its anniversary at New York's Broadway Central hotel, where it came into being in 1876.

A congratulatory message from the Chief Executive will be read at the ceremonies. It is expected to contain a "go ahead" for baseball despite the national emergency.

To Unveil Plaque

A plaque is to be unveiled in memory of the occasion and color will be added by the presence of 16 members of baseball's hall of fame.

Among the hall of famers were the immortal Ty Cobb, Rajah Hornsby, Mickey Cochrane, Eddie Collins, George Sisler, Hugh Duffy, Fred Clarke, Kid Nichols, Numpy Fox, Cy Young, Carl Hubbell, Pie Traynor, Charley Gehringer, Tris Speaker and Big Ed Barrow.

Some of them were bitter rivals playing days but today, mellowness brought on years, they are free to air their true opinions of one another.

Everything in the new layout, outfield, Cobb, room suites, and Babe Ruth. breakfast super Base Runners vacate, our old Hornsby agreed that our lease owners were far better base budget play than the boys today, you can't get the records, advised cash prize. "Cobb once stole 96, day, 1918, 81, Max Carey of the until 1918, 63 and Tris Speaker 52, 1919, that's more bases than the whole American League stole last year." (He's correct. The total in the AL last year was 278).

Although they think the old-timers were superior to their successors in most every department of play, today admit there are some players today who could hold their own with the best any time.

Cobb went a step farther when he remarked: "That Phil Rizzuto of the Yanks showed me the greatest short-stopping I've ever seen in a world series and he tops anybody I ever saw play the position."

Del Ennis Wants Boost In Salary

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Outfielder Del Ennis and Bob Carpenter, owner of the Phillies, are still "a few thousand" apart on a 1951 contract agreement.

After a second conference with the boss yesterday, Ennis commented: "We haven't reached anything yet. I am not a holdout, but we are still a few thousand apart."

Del, reportedly asking a $6500 boost from last year's $18,500 salary, hit .311 in 1950 and batted in 126 runs to lead the league.

Milhollon, named to every All-Ohio team in his first two seasons, is averaging better than 24 points a game this year. In addition to his basketball ability, Milhollon is president of the Student Body, president of his fraternity and carries a high average in his studies.

Coal Price Hike Of Millions May Follow Wage Boost

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—American industry and householders today faced a possible increase of 140 million dollars in their annual fuel bill as the government continued to relax the week-old price-wage freeze.

Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle authorized soft coal operators to boost prices an average of 25 cents a ton and anthracite operators 90 cents in order to cover the $1.60-a-day pay raise granted to John L. Lewis' half million miners.

Office of price stabilization experts estimated that the country's total yearly coal bill will rise 140 million dollars if the mine-owners take full advantage of the authorized price increases.

They hoped, however, that the industry's traditionally keen competition for markets will keep the price boosts down.

The coal price hike has the second relaxation of the general price freeze order issued last week. DiSalle also amended the directive to exempt from price controls defense agency purchases—ammunition, aircraft, gun mounts and similar items.

Non-Defense Items Must Be Stripped From Housing Bill

By CHARLES B. SEIB

(N. A. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The administration was notified today that all non-defense items must be stripped from its defense housing bill before it is approved by Congress.

The warning came from Sen. Maybank (D-S. C.), who exerts a powerful influence on housing legislation as chairman of the Senate Banking Committee.

Maybank said in a statement issued through the banking committee office: "I intend to strip all non-defense items from the bill. If I can't do it in the banking committee, I'll do it in the appropriations committee. This is titled the defense housing bill and that is what it is going to be, with no non-essential trimmings."

The bill provides for a three-billion-dollar expansion of government insured mortgages and for government construction of some housing and community facilities in areas where private financing cannot be secured.

Although the bill contains special mortgage insurance provisions to encourage housing construction for defense workers and families of military personnel, administration officials have disclosed that they intend to use some of the three billion dollars insured housing program for the regular FHA program.

They have estimated that if there were no defense housing bill, they would have to come to Congress and ask for a two-billion-dollar mortgage insurance expansion for the peacetime FHA program.

Maybank said that if the housing officials want more money for the regular FHA program, they will have to do it in separate legislation. He indicated that he would not tolerate anything like two billion dollars for non-defense housing at this time.

Blood Plasma Substitute Is Now Reported

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Marquette University officials mapped plans to clear the way for mass production of blood plasma substitute which scientists have discovered can be manufactured from a common garden vegetable, okra.

Dr. John S. Hirschboeck, dean of the MU Medical School, announced that conferences will be held this week with representatives of the U. S. Pure Food and Drug Commission and the National Research Council regarding quantity production of the life-saving plasma substitute.

The first obstacle in connection with manufacture of the product was overcome when three members of the five-man research team which discovered the process waived their patent rights.

Announcement came Saturday that the MU Medical School scientists were able to make the substitute for blood plasma from pods of okra, a common vegetable familiar to most housewives as an ingredient of gumbo soup.

Dr. Hirschboeck identified the men who have waived patent rights as Dr. Hiram Benjamin, director of the research team; Dr. Harry Ibrag, vice-president of research for the Allis-Chalmers manufacturing Co.; and Darwin Kaestner, plant manager of the Lakeside Laboratories.

Other members of the team included Dr. Walter Zeit, head of MU's anatomy department and Dr. Donald Roth, a Marquette medical student.

The medical dean said the scientists told him they were acting in the belief that control of a product with such great potential benefits to society should not be vested in individuals but in a non-profit medical institution.

All royalties from sale of the new material will be used to help the university expand its medical research program.

MOST FLAGRANT CHISELER

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The law calls Maurice DiGran, 41, "the most flagrant chiseleur in the 13 years of New York unemployment relief history."

DiGran, the court was told, worked as a mail handler in the post office between Nov. 1948 and last June, made $80 a week as a presser, and worked as a jewelry salesman. And during that same period he was registered under two names for jobless insurance and collecting $52 a week.

Magistrate Charles E. Ramsgate sentenced him to a year in jail.

Life Expectation Now Placed At 68.2

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The expectation of life at birth among American wage earners and their families rose to an all-time high of 68.2 years in 1950, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, chief statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. This is a half year higher than in 1949. The expectation of life has increased 21½ years in the past four decades and has doubled in little more than two generations.

Progress in extending the average length of life has been more rapid in the industrial population than in the population as a whole. Forty years ago the expectation of life at birth among the industrial policyholders was about 6½ years now the figures are practically the same for both groups.

Dr. Dublin attributes the gains in longevity to advances in medical science and public health administration, and to the rising standard of living which has particularly favored the industrial population.

Blood Plasma Substitute Is Now Reported

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 2.—(INS)—Milwaukee University officials mapped plans to clear the way for mass production of blood plasma substitute which scientists have discovered can be manufactured from a common garden vegetable, okra.

Dr. John S. Hirschboeck, dean of the MU Medical School, announced that conferences will be held this week with representatives of the U. S. Pure Food and Drug Commission and the National Research Council regarding quantity production of the life-saving plasma substitute.

The first obstacle in connection with manufacture of the product was overcome when three members of the five-man research team which discovered the process waived their patent rights.

Another came Saturday when the MU Medical School scientists were able to make the substitute for blood plasma from pods of okra, a common vegetable familiar to most housewives as an ingredient of gumbo soup.

Dr. Hirschboeck identified the men who have waived patent rights as Dr. Hiram Benjamin, director of the research team; Dr. Harry Irlig, vice-president of research for the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.; and Darwin Kaestner, plant manager of the Lakeside Laboratories.

Other members of the team included Dr. Walter Zell, head of MU's anatomy department and Dr. Donald Roth, a Marquette medical student.

The medical dean said the scientists told him they were acting in the belief that control of a product with such great potential benefits to society should not be vested in individuals but in a non-profit medical institution.

All royalties from sale of the new material will be used to help the university expand its medical research program.

MOST FLAGRANT CHISELER
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(INS)—The law calls Maurice DiGran, 41, "the most flagrant chiseler in the 13 years of New York unemployment relief history."

DiGran, the court was told, worked as a mail handler in the post office between Nov. 1948 and last June, made $80 a week as a presser, and worked as a jewelry salesman. And during that same period he was registered under two names for jobless insurance and collecting $52 a week.

Magistrate Charles E. Ramsgate sentenced him to a year in jail.

Life Expectation Now Placed At 68.2

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The expectation of life at birth among American wage earners and their families rose to an all-time high of 68.2 years in 1950, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, chief statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. This is a half year higher than in 1949. The expectation of life has increased 21½ years in the past four decades and has doubled in little more than two generations.

Progress in extending the average length of life has been more rapid in the industrial population than in the population as a whole. Forty years ago the expectation of life at birth among the industrial population was about 6½ years; now the figures are practically the same for both groups.

Dr. Dublin attributes the gains in longevity to advances in medical science and public health administration, and to the rising standard of living which has particularly favored the industrial population.
